A FREEWAY TAKING SHAPE

Framed by portions of a California Highway Patrol helicopter, the emerging network of the Highway 101 by-pass of Novato begins to reveal its ultimate shape. The morning scene, captured today by Sgt. James Dukes of the highway patrol, finds commuters heading north and south along the freeway, passing beneath the broad, low arch of the Rowland Boulevard overpass. Curving easterly and throwing two bridges across Novato Creek, the roadbed of the new by-pass creates a utilitarian pattern on the landscape. Beyond the Rowland overpass, a reservoir catches the morning light like a silver screen. Beyond it, climbing the hills, various residential neighborhoods of southern Novato form their own patterns. The by-pass, which rejoins the old highway at San Marin Drive, is scheduled for completion in late August.

Sausalito Seeks New Councilman

Sausalito City Councilmen will meet in closed session at 7 p.m. tomorrow to discuss whether they will call a special election or appoint a successor to Leonard F. Rappa, who resigned from the council Saturday after only five weeks in office.

Legally, they must select a replacement within 30 days or they are required to hold a special election, according to City Atty. Leland H. Jordan. Time restrictions prevent a special election being held along with the June 4 primary. The four remaining councilmen met Saturday following Rappa's announcement but were unable to decide on a course of action.

The special meeting was held without the public announcement required by the Ralph M. Brown Act.

However, they are expected to decide soon, probably tomorrow night. "We aren't going to

Marinite Wins Claim Over GM

John T. O'Rourke took on General Motors today in Marin's small claims court — and won.

The decision by municipal Judge Robert A. Smallman to make GM's Chevrolet Motors Division pay for a damaged engine in O'Rourke's 1972 Vega could have far-reaching implications for hundreds of other Vega owners across the nation. O'Rourke, an engineering geologist, sued Chevrolet after reading a Wall Street Journal article that the motor company selectively extended warranties on 1972 Vegas to correct defects in the cooling system.

The article said the "under-the-table" extensions were made in some cases when owners complained that the defective cooling systems caused the cast-aluminum engine to overheat, requiring their replacement.

O'Rourke, 37, of 131 Hilldale Avenue, San Anselmo, bought a Vega station wagon in August 1972. Thirteen months later he returned it to Campbell-Bishop Chevrolet in Corte Madera to complain it was using too much oil.

Mechanics installed a "coolant recovery unit," designed to assure that radiator fluid didn't evaporate, but O'Rourke said the trouble persisted and a thorough examination by another mechanic last November showed scratches on the cylinder walls caused by overheating.

So O'Rourke had the engine block replaced at a cost of $690. But when he presented the bill to Chevrolet, the company refused to pay, saying O'Rourke's car was over the 12,000-mile warranty by 8,000 miles.

On advice of the Center for Auto Safety in Washington, O'Rourke sued Chevrolet for $500 — the legal limit for such a suit — in small claims court. Before Judge Smallman today, William Perry, a Chevrolet motors representative, told the judge warranties were not

Board Is Against Teacher Firings

By PAUL CANE

Responding to the organized pressure of teacher and student groups, Tamalpais Union High School District trustees Saturday agreed that they oppose firing teachers and staff members as a means to eliminate an estimated $900,000 budget deficit next school year.

Board members refused, however, to embody that opposition in a resolution as demanded by several members of the audience. They said they might do it tonight, however, in another meeting at 8 o'clock at the Redwood High School student center.

The board is now faced with several conflicting plans to cut next year's budget. The latest two were presented Saturday, one from local teachers' groups, and the other a compromise proposal from Supt. Robert D. Torrey.

90 Injured In Blast In New York Building

NEW YORK (UPI) — An explosion and fire, apparently caused by a gas leak, ripped through a commercial building today and severely damaged an adjacent apartment building one block from the United Nations.

The blast shortly before 7 a.m. EDT, about an hour before the morning rush hour, severely damaged the two buildings and blew out windows in the east midtown area between Second and First avenues.

Ninety-three persons were reported injured, eight seriously. Fire Department officials said 70 of the injured were taken to hospitals. Another 23 were treated at the scene. Eleven of the injured were policemen.

Most of the injured came from the Envoy Towers, a residential building adjoining the commercial structure where the blast occurred.

Forty-fifth and 46th Streets, just east of Second Avenue, were strewn with glass and debris. Most of the injured suffered cuts from flying glass and the toll would have been much higher had it occurred during the rush hour.

Many of the residents of the apartment building fled to the street in their nightclothes. The building later was completely evacuated of its 250 families as a precautionary measure.

Two men who had been working in a garage under the apartment building and were reported missing were located later unharmed.

Law Officer Deaths Pledged In SLA Note

Authorities Uncertain Message Is Authentic

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A penciled note and tape recorded message received today by the Sacramento Bee claimed the Symbionese Liberation Army would execute five California peace officers "for every SLA member murdered."

"Sacramento Bee: This communique has been addressed to you as you represent the capital of the State of California. You are responsible for informing the appropriate authorities," the taped message said. (See another Hearst story, page 2.)

"The purpose of this order is to prevent the setup and assassination of the members of the SLA by the fascist state agents. Suppression of this document can only result in the endangering of your civil servants," it said.

The messages, dated April 17, were received in a package postmarked Berkeley, April 19.

The Bee said there was some doubt that the messages came from the SLA. "Neither note nor tape contained the lengthy, ideological statements found in some SLA communications," the Bee said.

The messages were signed by a "General Pax," a name not found in recent SLA public statements. They were turned over to the FBI this morning.

An FBI spokesman said they would have to be analyzed before agents would make any comment.

There was no mention in either the tape or penciled note of the kidnapping of Patricia Hearst.

The note, on lined yellow paper with the SLA seven-headed Cobra symbol, said: "The Symbionese Liberation Army will not allow itself to be slaughtered by the fascist forces who suppress us now. We therefore issue this warning: five California law enforcement officers will be executed for every SLA member murdered. Take heed. This order will be enforced."

Cosell Considers Race for Senate

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sports commentator Howard Cosell says he has been considering opposing Sen. James Buckley, R-N.Y., in the 1976 Senate race because he wants to "do something more meaningful with my life."

"Like any normal human being, I'm getting along in years and I want to do something more meaningful with my life before it's all cashed in," he said in a telephone interview.

"I'm dissatisfied with conditions that exist in government today and I want to try to do something about it," he said.

The tape was read by a man who identified himself as "Pax" but was interrupted at one point by another unidentified voice.

It said, in part, "Do not think that by eliminating a few of our members that you can destroy our movement. We are everywhere."

There was then a pause in the tape and another man's voice said: "Any murders of SLA members, whether by police raids or undercover attack, will not be tolerated by this organization. Reprisals will consist of the execution of five California peace officers for every SLA member murdered."

There was another pause and then the original voice said, "This is General Pax, in conclusion. Make no mistake. Our tentacles reach throughout the nation. We will not be crushed by the mere police force of the Bay Area."

Dean Contradicts Stans Testimony

NEW YORK (UPI) — Flatly contradicting former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans, John W. Dean testified today that he never told Stans there was no obligation to reveal Robert L. Vesco's secret 1972 Nixon campaign contribution of $200,000 to federal investigators.

Called as a rebuttal witness by the government, Dean made his third appearance before the federal court jury in the Mitchell-Stans trial on what was scheduled to be the last day of testimony.

McCarthy Interrupts Ford Talk, Arrested

I-J Special Report

SAN JOSE — Sean McCarthy of San Rafael, Republican candidate for Congress, was arrested Saturday by the Secret Service for interrupting a speech by Vice President Gerald R. Ford.

McCarthy, 25, was booked on suspicion of disturbing the peace. He was released on his own recognizance and will appear in Santa Clara County Municipal Court on May 6.

Ford was addressing some 1,200 persons at the Republican State Central Committee when McCarthy stood up and protested Ford's claim that President Nixon was innocent in the Watergate scandals. The security men quickly moved in on McCarthy and dragged him from the hall at the Le Baron Hotel.

McCarthy told the Independent-Journal he stood up "because common sense demanded it" and that he only wanted "to debate intelligently with the gentleman." Contrary to Ford's "one-way dialogue around the country" that only the President's men had done wrong, McCarthy said, the fact is similar misdeeds have been Nixon's trademark ever since he first ran for public office.

McCarthy said he also was irritated because the convention's executive committee endorsed Thomas O. Caylor of San Francisco, a rival candidate in the special election in the Sixth Congressional District.

McCarthy also is a candidate for the GOP nomination in the Fifth Congressional District, as is Caylor. Ford warned of Republican losses if the party allows Democrats to make the November elections "a national referendum" on the President.

Court Sidesteps Stand On Racial Hiring Quotas

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court sidestepped its first chance to rule specifically on racial hiring quotas and let stand today a lower court ruling that such requirements for state-supported construction jobs are constitutional.

In a brief order, the Court left in effect a decision by the 1st U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals upholding a quota section in a state contract for construction at Boston State College.

Left open was the general question of whether specific hiring quotas to improve the lot of minorities violate the traditional concept of a "color blind" Constitution.

The contract at Boston State College required that 20 per cent of the man-hours involved in construction in all work categories be done by minorities.

In other actions, the Supreme Court:

Agreed to consider whether President Dwight D. Eisenhower acted illegally in directing that a soldier convicted of murder, and whose death sentence he commuted, never be eligible for parole.

Refused to overturn a U.S. Court of Claims decision giving an off-reservation tribe a share of timber revenues from the lands of the Hoopa Indians in northern California. Both the Justice Department and other Indians in the West had contested the ruling.

Agreed to decide whether a federal grand court improperly invalidated part of New Jersey's new obscenity law before state courts had a chance to rule on it.

IN TORNADO'S WAKE

Next to a concrete foundation where a house once stood, a windblown tree is littered with debris churned up when a tornado hit Arcadia, Neb., Saturday. Officials credited an early warning — the twister could be seen approaching from nine miles away — with the fact that there were no injuries.

FBI Denies Report SLA Has Been Found

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The FBI man in charge of the search for kidnaped Patricia Hearst denied a report that his agents donned work clothes and infiltrated the neighborhood where she and her captors were hiding.

"That is not true," special agent Charles Bates said last night when informed of the report in Newsweek magazine.

The magazine said the agents posed as "postmen, garbage collectors, deliverymen and the like." The ruse allowed the FBI to discover the "neighborhood, if not the house, where the gang was hiding," the news magazine said.

"We haven't had men dressed or posing like that," Bates said. The FBI "was busy all week-end" conducting the search without success, he said.

It has been 77 days since Miss Hearst, 20, was carried away screaming from her Berkeley apartment by the terrorist revolutionary group.

Miss Hearst was photographed accompanying SLA bank robbers last Monday, and FBI and local law enforcement agencies have since imposed a gag rule to prevent release of information which could prove prejudicial in the eventual prosecutions of SLA members.

A debate has ensued over whether Miss Hearst, daughter of San Francisco Examiner editor Randolph A. Hearst, was directly involved in the heist of $10,690 from a San Francisco bank or whether she was forced to participate.

She had sent a tape recorded message to her parents April 3 stating that she was renouncing her former way of life and would "stand and fight" with the underground group whose symbol is the seven-headed cobra.

In the robbery photographs, taken by a bank camera, Miss Hearst was seen carrying an automatic carbine. She was only charged with being a material witness in a federal complaint issued nine hours after the bank holdup and wounding of two bystanders.

Meanwhile, police say they will give a lie detector test to a roommate of Miss Hearst's cousin, William Randolph Hearst II. The roommate, Van R. Bush, 31, claims he was kidnaped last Thursday by three gunmen who referred to him as "Billy," a reference to Hearst.

Bush said he was released three hours later when he convinced the men he was not Hearst by showing them his driver's license.

Police Inspector Ralph Brown said it was decided to give Bush the lie detector test because he was hazy about some details of the incident.

Fight Rages In Mount Hermon Area

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL
Israel and Syria exchanged artillery, tank, and small arms fire throughout the night and morning in the battle for the snowy slopes of Mount Hermon, and Israeli planes returned to the attack, a Syrian military communique said today.

The fighting spread to other sectors of the Golan Heights front, the communique said.

Engineering crews from both sides worked under shellfire to improve roads leading up to the 9,200-foot peak that serves as a lookout for the Golan battlefield and hundreds of miles beyond, according to the Israeli military command.

The command said Israeli planes bombed and strafed the Syrian units.

Israel controls the summit and roads leading up to the mountain from the south, but Syria holds the northeast slopes. Each side needs roads to bring up artillery and armor for any assault on the peak.

Newsman in South Lebanon said an Israeli force encroached on the Lebanese side of Mt. Hermon today in an effort to gain a strategic advantage over Syrian forces. They said Lebanese soldiers fired mortars at the Israelis but failed to dislodge them.

In Tel Aviv a spokesman for the military command said "we deny that our soldiers entered or occupied any Lebanese territory."

Israeli military correspondents for the national radio said Syrian-backed guerrillas have been moving across the Mount Hermon region from southern Lebanon in an attempt to mine the road Israel built to its outpost on the mountain's summit.

Biochemist Finds Life Came Easily

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A noted biochemist has come up with new laboratory evidence indicating the beginning of life from Earth's primordial environment more than 3 billion years ago was easier than previously believed.

It suggests that the chemical evolution of living things is an inevitable process when the conditions are right, said Dr. Cyril Ponnampumma, director of the Laboratory of Chemical Evolution at the University of Maryland.

"Perhaps on Mars things happened a long time ago and perhaps on Jupiter things might be happening right now," he said at a news conference summarizing five scientific papers released yesterday.

He said the most significant new finding he and his colleagues have made came with experiments trying to recreate some molecules that led to life. They unexpectedly produced what apparently is a chemical sequence of acids used by practically all organisms in the respiration process.

"We have found what appears to be a metabolic pathway which had existed perhaps before life began," Ponnampumma said.

His work is based on the theory that the simplest living molecules were formed from Earth's primitive atmosphere of methane, ammonia and water by energy sources such as lightning and solar radiation. Ponnampumma and other scientists have shown that basic building blocks of life can come from such conditions.

In his latest experiments, Ponnampumma was trying to make malic acid by irradiating acetic acid which in turn is formed from a primitive atmosphere. Malic acid could be the first step in the formation of pyrimidines, a class of substances which are ingredients of DNA and RNA — fundamental components of living matter.

In the process, he and his colleagues came up with a number of compounds that are involved in a sequence of reactions used by living things in the respiration process. This is known to scientists as the Krebs cycle.

"This shows that starting with methane and water, with different sources of energy available at the time, some compounds important in metabolism can be formed," he said.

"Perhaps the key point is that up to now in chemical evolution we've been looking at individual components that have been synthesized," he said. "Here we see practically an entire sequence. So that when life began, life did not perhaps invent these cycles. Life used the pathways, the sequences, that were already existing there chemically."

Nader Has No Political Hopes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ralph Nader says he has no intention of ever running for public office.

"I would lose rather than gain if I were elected to office," the consumer crusader said in a copyrighted interview in Parade magazine.

In 10 years, Nader said, he would like to be doing just what he's doing today, "Citizen action sure is fun," he said.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

No Hunger Strike Effect Seen

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Despite James Earl Ray's three-day hunger strike at the state prison, the confessed assassin of Martin Luther King Jr. was "looking good and healthy" last night, a prison spokesman said.

Ray

"We believe he's got a bunch of candy bars and such stashed away," a prison spokesman said. "He could have enough food for a month stored in his cell."

Ray has refused prison food since Friday in protest of his being held in "administrative segregation" or solitary confinement, which prison officials have said is for his own protection.

Lopez Elected

BOGOTA (UPI) — Liberal party candidate Alfonso Lopez Michelsen piled up a landslide lead today to win Colombia's first "open-to-all" presidential election since 1946.

Lopez, a 60-year-old law professor campaigning for moderate social and economic reforms, issued a victory statement shortly before midnight.

Lopez offered to collaborate with conservatives and guaranteed the defeated party "the right to criticize the new government."

Meteor Sighting

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — A fiery red object streamed across Pittsburgh's southeastern sky during the weekend and touched off reports of an unidentified flying object.

Paul Oles, program director of Buhl Planetarium, quickly dispelled the reports.

"The object was a classic bolide, or a very bright meteor," Oles said. "It was moving from the southeast sky in a northwest direction, leaving a trail visible for at least an hour."

Car Ambushed

BELFAST (UPI) — A car used daily to transport Health Minister Paddy Devlin to his office was ambushed today and the minister's police bodyguard was wounded. Devlin, a Roman Catholic, was not in the car.

Police said three gunmen fired 14 shots from a rifle and a machinegun at the police car which normally carries Devlin to and from his home. Devlin was in Dublin today on business.

Base Recaptured

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnamese troops drove through Communist lines and recaptured a Central Highlands base lost to the North Vietnamese in heavy fighting a week ago, the Saigon military command said today.

A command spokesman said government infantry retook Base 711, a field outpost near the Cambodian border 203 miles north of Saigon, against only token Communist resistance.

Red Onslaught

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — A Communist onslaught yesterday shattered a 3,000-man government force in the Oudong-Kompong Luong area 20 miles north of Phnom Penh and stragglers were fleeing to safety today, abandoning vast supplies of equipment and their own wounded, military sources reported.

The sources said 116 government soldiers were wounded and at least 50 killed when Communist troops overran a bridgehead across the Tonle Sap River at Kompong Luong. Thirty others were wounded trying to escape to Long Vek, three miles to the north. Forty seriously wounded were left behind.

All The Same

PARIS (UPI) — The three major candidates in France's presidential election appeared to blend their programs today to such a degree it was difficult to tell them apart.

"The right does not exist," the newspaper L'Aurore said today in an editorial. "Who represents the right? Nobody. Everybody is left."

Francois Mitterrand, candidate of both the Socialist and Communist parties, said in a speech in Bordeaux Saturday his two rivals "are running behind to such a point that I cannot promise some program in the morning, but that they take it up in the evening."

Valery Giscard d'Estaing, and Jacques Chaban-Delmas are the other major candidates.

Kidnap Victim

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI) — Bank executive Albert L. Dantzier, who escaped from kidnapers by jumping out of a boat and swimming for his life, was released from a hospital yesterday.

Dantzier, 43, who told authorities he was abducted from his Hollywood, Fla., home and held for 25 hours until he escaped at sea, said "I feel hale and hearty."

Dantzier, called his bank Friday and said his kidnapers were demanding $60,000 in ransom. The ransom was dropped but never picked up.

Kennedy Meets Russian Leader

MOSCOW (UPI) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy met with Soviet Communist leader Leonid I. Brezhnev today after running into confusion, embarrassment and some heckling when he tried a U.S.-style campus speech at a Russian university.

Soviet translators changed key sections of the Massachusetts Democrat's comments at Moscow State University and a college official tried to cut the remarks short by saying Kennedy was ill.

A jovial, gregarious Brezhnev met Kennedy, his wife, Joan, and their two children, Kara, 13, and Ted Jr., 12, at the Kremlin this morning, however, with smiles and handshakes.

"We'll talk about whatever he wants to talk about," Brezhnev told newsmen before taking Kennedy and his family into his study.

Brezhnev handed Kennedy an autographed picture of himself, causing Kara to ask if she could have one too. Brezhnev went right to his desk and signed another photo despite the senator's smiling protestations.

Kennedy's visit to the Soviet Union was the last stop on a three-nation, fact-finding tour of Eastern Europe. He previously visited Romania and Yugoslavia.

He told students at the university Sunday he believed a "magnanimous action" by the Kremlin in easing emigration barriers would spur Congress to grant the Soviet Union trade concessions.

After the speech, the first by a major U.S. politician at the college, he tried to poll the audience of 600 on various issues. "This is something I have been doing on American college campuses for the past three years," he said.

The audience, unused to public polls on sensitive issues, reacted with confusion and embarrassment. Many of the listeners, older than students, seemed to be staff or faculty members.

One query about whether the Soviet Union should spend more on defense caused an elderly man at the front to yell out in Russian, "That's an unfair question. That's provocative."

A middle-aged woman then shouted at Kennedy in English, "That depends on the international situation."

Kennedy took the interruptions with good humor and did not appear shaken.

The elderly man who heckled him about defense spending later took exception to the senator calling the Soviet Union second to the United States.

"What country in the world is second after the Soviet Union in education, health, housing and so on," the man said.

His words drew laughter and scattered applause from others in the audience.

After 20 minutes of polling and questions, a university official suddenly announced an end to the meeting because Kennedy was "not feeling well."

"I feel fine," a surprised Kennedy retorted.

Ford, Kennedy Favored In Iowa

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — Vice President Gerald Ford and Sen. Edward Kennedy D-Mass., are the leading contenders for the Republican and Democratic nominations for President, according to a poll in yesterday's edition of the Des Moines Register.

The Register's poll said 31 per cent of Iowa Republicans interviewed favored Ford as their nominee for President while 47 per cent of the Democrats polled chose Kennedy.

Asked to select the man they would vote for if an election were held today, Iowans polled said they would pick Kennedy over Ford for President 43 to 40 per cent.

Teresa also plays the violin and is a member of the Dixie School District's junior orchestra.

Heavy Sentences For Petty Theft

COLUMBUS, Ga. (UPI) — Superior Court Judge John H. Land, in an apparent crack-down on petty thieves, has sentenced a college student to seven months in jail for stealing an 80-cent package of luncheon meat as part of a fraternity initiation.

The youth, Lewis Zeller, 22, a student at Tuskegee Institute in Alabama, pleaded guilty Friday to taking the meat from a Columbus grocery March 29.

Land also sentenced Dorothy L. Williams, 32, Cottondale, Ala., to 12 months in jail for taking $10.57 worth of merchandise; Gary Lee West and Edwin M. Pearce, two Ft. ABOUT KEEPING
NOURISHED
CONVENIENTLY

Most convenience foods take no prize for good nutrition. They're usually loaded with chemical additives, besides. But we keep a few select, quality ones on hand for customers. These are wholesome, delicious and can be served with a minimum of effort. Included: casseroles, soups, whole grains and vegetable soup mixes and even loaves of nutritious bread topped with a cheese, garlic mixture, ready to pop into the oven for heating.

But did you ever stop to think that some of the most nutritious foods are actually the most convenient? For example, eggs, cheeses, yogurt, shelled nuts, dried fruits, sprouted grains and seeds. And perhaps the greatest convenience foods of all are the vitamin and mineral supplements we take along with meals for balanced nutrition!

Consumers Not Following Book On Inflation—Spending Like Mad

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Economics textbooks say that during periods of high inflation people are supposed to stop spending, but most Americans apparently don't read economics textbooks.

Despite soaring inflation, people are still spending like mad—and economists are puzzled.

The spending runs counter to most theories of traditional economic behavior which says people tend to stash away more cash in bank accounts or safe investments during times of economic uncertainty.

The release of the first quarter economic statistics last week, which showed inflation rising steadily and the gross national product (GNP) falling, should have produced a nation of misers. But, the personal savings rate—the percentage of income that is deposited into financial institutions—actually dropped during the first three months of 1974.

"The consumer is not just sitting in his cave waiting... he is out spending," said Sydney Jones, chief economist of the U.S. Department of Commerce. Inflation itself could be feeding the retail surge. "Buy now," the theory goes, "because things will only get more expensive next year."

Income tax refunds, a wind-fall for many families this time of the year, may also prompt more spending.

The buying binge would be good news during a normal economic slump. Those extra dollars flowing into the economy would be just the thing to get business moving again.

But the current decline is unusual because it is coupled with extraordinarily high inflation and the escalating prices are negating the benefits of the consumer spending.

"The problem is that the rate of inflation is too intensive for the consumer to increase the quantity of his acquisitions," Jones said. "You have to get improvement on inflation so that consumers can spend more money on goods rather than just prices."

Kenneth R. Cole Jr., President Nixon's chief domestic adviser, predicted yesterday that the economy will bounce back in the second half of 1974.

Cole said the administration opposed any tax cut, as proposed by Sens. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., and Walter Mondale, D-Minn., because it would only fan the flames of inflation.

"We feel, as has been stated, that this first half of the year is going to be a rough half, and we have just seen the results of that, at least for the first quarter," Cole said.

Sporty to drive. Easy on gas.

We don't know why five-speed transmissions should come as standard equipment only on expensive cars. We small car specialists think that a lot of people will appreciate the sportiness of five speeds on inexpensive cars. And that's exactly why we put them on these four Toyotas. Along with a list of standard features that makes each Toyota an even better buy. Like radios, power front disc brakes, tachometers, radial tires, reclining bucket seats, wall-to-wall carpeting, and a long list of extras.

And there's more good news. The fifth gear makes cruising easy on gas and easy on the engine (it runs about 15% slower than in fourth gear). A good reason why we offer Toyota quality in four different five-speeds as part of our 24 different models.

Just remember. Our five-speed prices stop where others start. If you want a big car, see a big car dealer. But if you want the big buy in small cars, see the "small car specialist," your local Toyota Dealer.

Drivers Are Warned Of Speeding Tickets

The California Highway Patrol today issued a warning that motorists who exceed the 55-mile-per-hour speed limit on Bay Area highways will continue to be cited.

"Despite an increasing number of speeding citations, recent speed checks indicate a significant number of drivers are violating the 55-mile-per-hour speed limit," said Ralph M. Walker, zone commander for the patrol.

He said the violators "might be surprised that a very large majority of drivers recently pulled in the Bay Area want the 55-mile limit continued and enforced."

Walker cited reduced traffic fatalities as a result of the lower speed limit.

He said some people, who believe the "energy crisis is imaginary or contrived" are "slipping back to business as usual," Walker said, though, that the supply of gasoline for the next few months is estimated to be 5 per cent less than the demand.

Sgt. James Dukes of the Highway Patrol in Marin County said officers are experiencing little difficulty in keeping motorists to the speed limit on Highway 101 in Marin. He said the main problems are on long flat stretches of freeway in other counties.

At issue, once it is agreed that no firing will be done to cut costs, is the salary increase to be given teachers and administrators. Torrey proposes a 4 per cent increase for teachers; the teachers are asking for a 15 per cent hike for themselves, but no raise at all for administrators.

Torrey's proposal is a compromise in response to organized efforts by the two teachers' associations in the district, the Tamalpais Federation of Teachers (TFT), and the Tamalpais District Teachers Association (TDTA). His preliminary report to the board had called for firing up to 36 teachers.

Portions of the teachers plan to pare more than $1.3 million from the deficit were criticized by trustees, particularly one item calling for the reduction of district reserves by $500,000. According to Frank J. Gold, president of the TFT, this cut would leave reserves above the $100,000 level that he says has been recommended to him by consulting budget analysts.

Trustee Bette Wallace asked Gold how these outside experts could be more knowledgeable about district affairs than the trustees themselves.

"These are the men that write your laws," Gold said. "Well, I think we all know that that doesn't make them geniuses," retorted Wallace wryly.

Another controversial item the teachers proposed was to assume a total of $100,000 in overestimation of expenses by district departments. Gold said that in the past there has always been a $100,000 to $400,000 year-ending surplus in district accounts, and that as a "speculation based on past experience" it can be assumed that at least $100,000 will be left over this year. Trustees indicated they were not ready to accept this as an indication that budget forecasts will always err on the plus side of the ledger.

Two other main parts of the teachers' plan would reduce the materials and equipment allowance from $100 to $75 per student per year, saving $145,000 and postpone special construction projects at Tamalpais and Sir Francis Drake High Schools, saving $200,000.

Other items tabbed for cuts by teachers (with estimated amounts saved in parentheses) are:

- Maintenance and operations ($100,000), district office expenses ($131,000), telephone expenses ($10,000), dean's contract alterations ($35,000), postpone staff development program for one year ($104,000), personal necessity leave ($10,000), library processing center (4,000), construction and equipment at San Andreas and Mewah Mountain special schools ($56,000), Breakthrough program ($5,000), student assistant program ($5,000) and Task Force follow-up study ($5,500).

After receiving the teachers' plan last week, Torrey revised his budget-slicing program and adopted several of their ideas, including postponing the staff development program, and cutting the library processing budget. However, his newest plan still falls short of teacher wishes, because he holds fast to a 4 per cent salary hike for them. The cost of a 15 per cent salary increase is more than $1.1 million dollars; if the teachers accept the lesser settlement, he says, most programs will not have to be cut, and reserves will not have to be depleted.

John May, a Tamalpais High student, presented the board with petitions signed by 2,200 students asking that no district employees be fired. May said students favor the teachers' proposal, because it is most conscious of the evil of cutting things that "affect people's lives like firings."

Adoption Of Traffic Plan Is Held Off

Deciding that more study is needed of the Lucky Drive interchange of Highway 101, the Corte Madera Planning Commission has delayed adopting the traffic section of the town's proposed general plan.

Holding another special meeting on the general plan, the commission Saturday told town staff to meet with Larkspur officials to find out what access changes they propose for the freeway near Lucky Drive.

William G. McBride, town zoning administrator, said the commission feels that the Lucky Drive area is dangerous because of severe weaving as motorists drive in and out of freeway lanes either entering or leaving the highway. But he said commissioners are hesitant to recommend blocking off any freeway entrances or exits because of the many small businesses located on or near Lucky Drive.

The original draft of the plan called for elimination of all freeway on and off ramps from Sir Francis Drake Boulevard to Tamalpais Drive.

The commission adopted the community services and commercial facilities element of the plan which recommends the consolidation of Corte Madera Town services with those of Larkspur.

DEAN

assistant U.S. Attorney John R. Wing, Dean, former counsel to President Nixon, denied two instances in which Stans testified Dean had advised him he did not need to volunteer information about the gift.

Stans had testified that he phoned Dean on Nov. 13, 1972, and told him he had had a conversation with G. Bradford Cook, general counsel to the Securities and Exchange Commission, which was vigorously pursuing an investigation of Vesco's manipulations. Stans said Cook had told him about learning that Vesco had transferred $250,000 from the Bahamas to the United States and "had siphoned off $50,000" of it.

Stans said he told Dean that "I did not volunteer anything to Brad" about the $200,000 gift.

He testified that Dean told him at that time that "there isn't any obligation on you to tell Cook" and that the SEC "should make a more formal request."

Dean testified today: "I have no recollection of that conversation."

Stans also had testified that during an airplane flight from Washington to New York with Dean he again had raised the question, "Am I obligated to reveal the $200,000 to the commission?" and that Dean had said "no."

"Did you have that conversation?" Wing asked today.

"No, I did not"

Torrey is scheduled to go to court Thursday to seek necessary approval for dismissals but if trustees formally resolve that there will not be any firings, this will be unnecessary.

Also rendered moot if the "anti-firing" resolution is approved tonight, is a threat of a lawsuit against the district by the women's caucus of the American Federation of Teachers. Elizabeth Brouse spokesman for the group, has said that the group might sue if the district fires a non-proportional number of women in order to balance the budget.

7 WAYS TO PLUG FOR ENERGY CONSERVATION.

You'll save energy if you follow these suggestions:

1. Turn off all lights that are not essential.
2. Lower your furnace thermostat to 68 degrees.
3. Use full loads in dishwasher and clothes dryers.
4. Set your water heater to "normal" or 140 degrees.

5. Turn off TV sets when they're not being watched.
6. Defrost your refrigerator before frost becomes 1/4" thick. Thick frost reduces your refrigerator's cooling ability and makes it run inefficiently.
7. Be sure your range and oven are turned off when not in use. These are just a few of the many ways you can conserve energy.

DEDICATION — Residents rim the balconies and courtyard of Martinelli House in San Rafael as Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken (right foreground) blesses the senior

Martinelli House Is Dedicated

Retired Judge Jordan L. Martinelli Sr. and his wife, Genevieve, sat on the speakers' platform Saturday while Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken blessed and dedicated the new Martinelli House, a senior citizens apartment project.

A building known as the Martinelli home formerly stood on the property at 1327 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael. It was a wedding gift to Genevieve Martinelli as a bride, from Ennio Martinelli, a Marin County attorney and father of her husband.

More than 300 guests, including three generations of Martinellis, attended the dedication ceremonies conducted by the apartment project's sponsor, Catholic Social Service of Marin.

Archbishop McGucken, recalling that God had sent an angel to watch over the doors of the Israelites' homes, prayed for blessings on the 82 residents of the 66 compact new apartments. He strode about a terrace, sprinkling holy water as he blessed the project.

Residents and visitors thronged the courtyard and balconies above to watch the ceremony. Following brief speeches, the audience scattered to visit the apartments proudly displayed by their tenants, or crowded into the buildings' community room for champagne and sandwiches.

At the open house, beside Judge and Mr. Martinelli there were Jordan L. Martinelli Jr., recently resigned Marin Municipal Water District director, and his son Peter.

The apartment building replaces a house built in 1906 as the homes of the Italian consul in San Francisco, and sold a few years later to the Martinelli family. Following World War II, the old home was acquired by the Archdiocese of San Francisco for two decades it housed the Sisters of Social Service. It later was headquarters for the Economic Opportunity Council and then for Marin Open House before it was demolished to make way for the new apartment building that climbs up a terraced hillside from Lincoln Avenue.

Supervisor Michael Wornum told the visitors that the county is "desperately trying" to emulate the Catholic agency in providing more low and moderate cost housing. "to assure that Marin's young and old aren't driven away."

UROC Asks Ouster Of Nixon

Prompt impeachment and removal of President Nixon from office was urged Saturday by Marin and Sonoma members of the United Republicans of California.

In a resolution to go before the conservative organizations' annual state convention May 3 in San Mateo, the local members declared that "it has been clearly demonstrated that the electorate is dissatisfied with the performance of the President personally and with his aides, and there has been a revolt at the polls against the President's conduct, seriously threatening to destroy our two-party system."

The statement also criticized the President for making "unilateral and most dangerous concessions to the Soviet Union and Red China in order to score illusory achievements in foreign policy and, thus, to bolster his prestige at home."

Outgoing Area III governor, Mike Djordjevich, of San Rafael, reported the resolution was adopted 20-2 in the session at the Terra Linda Holiday Inn.

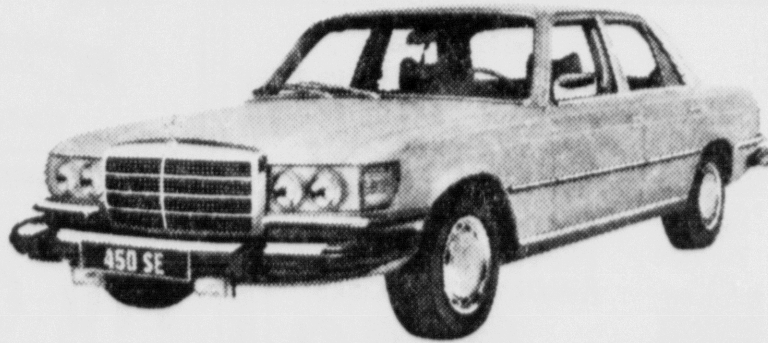

The organization has about 75 members in the Eighth and Ninth Assembly Districts, he said.

Members also endorsed Sonoma County Supervisor Robert Theiller, candidate for the GOP nomination in the Second Senatorial District, and Edward J.

Sullivan of San Anselmo, candidate for the GOP nomination in the Board of Equalization's Third District.

James Rohde of Greenbrae was elected as the new area governor, and Jane Alexander of San Anselmo was elected lieutenant governor.

You don't drive the lease, you drive the car.

Today, it seems most dealers and leasing companies consider the lease more important than the car you'll have to drive for two or three years. Not Mercedes-Benz.

A Mercedes-Benz gives you features simply not available on any domestic luxury sedan—at any monthly price. And it costs concern you, remember this: a Mercedes-Benz has a lower depreciation rate than any domestic luxury sedan. And depreciation is a major factor in determining leasing costs.

Come in. Test a Mercedes-Benz. We'll outline the leasing programs available and help tailor one to your specific needs. Whichever plan you choose, the monthly cost should surprise you.

Government Forces Us All To Work For It

Having recently toiled through Form 1040s, we are all right now keenly aware that the federal government makes us work for it in more ways than one.

It makes us work for it to earn the money to pay its taxes. Then it makes us work again to compute how much we owe it. And if we don't want to do that work for the government, we must hire someone else to do it for us.

THIS CHORE of doing the government's work for it gets to the wage or salary earner only once a year. But anyone who is in business for himself must do it the year around. And the complexity of the Form 1040 is mere child's play compared to some of the forms and reports required by Uncle Sam and his little nephews in statehouses.

Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., who heads the Senate subcommittee on government regulation, has estimated that businesses must fill out and file

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

8 SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, MONDAY, APRIL 22, 1974 EDITORIAL PAGE

10 billion sheets of paper every year. He admits that is just a guess. His staff counted up 5,298 different federal forms which businesses and the self-employed must complete; but that did not even include those of the Internal Revenue Service and was admittedly incomplete anyhow. The truth is, nobody knows how many such forms there are — but every businessman knows there are far too many.

McIntyre introduced a bill in the Senate that would require employers to file Social Security tax reports only once a year, instead of quarterly as at present. A similar bill is to be introduced in the House tomorrow by Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore. This one change, according to Ullman, will save small businesses $235 million a year. But it's merely a chip at the immense paperwork structure. And while the bills are making their way through Congress, we may be sure various government bureaus will be concocting new forms which businessmen and the self-employed will be required to fill out on pain of fine or imprisonment if they fail to do so.

A bill introduced by Rep. Gus Yatron, D-Pa., with 155 co-sponsors, would try to get at the mountain itself by requiring the General Accounting Office to prepare recommendations for reducing the paperwork requirements. But it likely will take years just for the GAO to hack its way through the jungle. Meanwhile, the forms required will proliferate.

WHAT IS THE REASON for all this paperwork which the "free" citizens of the United States are required to do for their government? Whom does it help?

It helps the bureaucrats. It gives them something to do. The various bureaus process the forms, computerize the findings, duplicate the results, and transmit them to other bureaus, who then file them. Precious little benefit ever comes back to the citizens who were required to spend long hours or hire extra help to fill out the forms in the first place.

There is a simple but radical solution to the problem: Reduce the bureaucracy. The fewer the bureaucrats, the fewer the forms.

The bills by Senator McIntyre and Representatives Ullman and Yatron may make a nick in the mountain. But to reduce the mountain to manageable size, a different approach seems in order: Reduce the appropriations for the government agencies. Force them to cut out the paperwork to stay within their budgets.

"I warn you — the people will not long abide your dragging this thing out."

Kissinger Not So Complicated As Eggheads Seem To Think

THE SIMPLICITY of SECRETARY KISSINGER. The sophisticates have an unnecessarily hard time understanding Henry K. The reason is that they falsely assume he is being devious when he is being direct. The foreign policy experts aren't really at home with a secretary of state who says what he means.

It appears that Kissinger evokes admiration and suspicion at the same time from the same people. This is because they try to read into everything he does and says meanings which aren't there.

Kissinger is openly unconventional in some of his thinking.

He refuses to be either an orthodox interventionist or an outdated isolationist. He knows there are limits to the capacity of the United States to intervene and he knows that withholding U.S. leadership, when it can be effective as in the Middle East, would be disastrous.

WE ALL LIVE IN GOLDFISH BOWLS. Reason: Nearly everyone yields vast information to credit card companies and others without even thinking about it. Already there are nearly 150,000 computer data banks in the United States, some 7,000 of which are government computers storing information about all of us.

Protective legislation to safeguard and reduce the exchange of people-data will be passed by Congress at this session.

TOO MUCH PRO-CHINESE NEWS COVERAGE. The Far Eastern Review published in Hong Kong is the most authoritative magazine covering Asia. It confirms that the western news media are making the same mistake — in reverse — they made in reporting on China during the early years of the Communist takeover. Then the western press was almost totally critical; now it is almost totally uncritical.

The Review cites Peking's "least-loved nations" on the basis of its own reporting. During the first three months of this year the official Chinese news service ran in English 66 anti-Soviet items, 58 attacks on the United States, 38 condemnations of South Korea, 29 denunciations of South Vietnam. The government of South Africa was taken to task only 11 times.

JOBS FOR COLLEGE GRADUATES INCREASING. The job outlook for the graduating class this June is brighter today than it has been for years. Example: At Michigan State University 1,900 employers are scheduled to recruit students this spring, 300 more than two years ago.

Accounting majors and engineering graduates are most in demand. At present the soft spots are in the automotive and airline parts of the economy.

HOW VIOLENT ARE TV PROGRAMS? The critics of TV entertainment have told their story to the Senate subcommittee on communications, and their contention is that violence remains high, hasn't decreased at all.

Said one professor of psychiatry: "Eight out of every 10 programs contained some violence in 1968 and eight out of 10 programs contained some violence in every subsequent year."

The networks think some reduction has taken place.

Congress Ignores Gathering Crisis While Administration Is Helpless

WASHINGTON — It was a famous victory in Michigan and it forecasts triumph in November for the already top-heavy Democratic majority in the House of Representatives. But what it means for movement on the critical decisions in Congress adrift in tired stalemate is quite another matter.

The Democratic victories, the four in seats held for years by the Republicans, were a vote against Richard Nixon. The voter may traditionally be "agin" rather than "for" on the hoary principle of turning the rascals out. Yet the responsibility of one of the two superpowers for order and stability must surely have some relationship to the choice of the voters in a theoretically representative government.

It was not visible in the Traxler-Sparling contest in Michigan's eighth congressional district. Nor is it likely to be visible in the elections this fall.

THE OMINOUS SHAPE of things to come is clear enough. The worst mass famine in recorded history is scarcely a year away. Already in large areas of Africa, starving humans and animals litter the desert. This is merely a curtain raiser for the thousands, perhaps hundreds of thousands, who will die as the drought continues.

No one argues that the United States, having bartered away a large part of the grain surplus in a dubious deal with the Soviet Union, leaving the pipeline all but empty, can avert this catastrophe. At the very least, however, this country, still the richest and best able to survive the oil crisis, should join with other developed nations to do the minimum.

That minimum is to vote the funds for the consortium to finance the International Development Association, the soft-loan window of the World Bank.

The House in January by a stunning vote of 248 to 155 turned down money for IDA. Without the $1.5 billion spread over four years from the United States the "replenishment" for IDA, agreed to by 25 nations after lengthy negotiation, falls apart and IDA will be out of business.

The effort of those in Congress who see IDA as a last-ditch means to help some 40 nations weather the oil-fertilizer pinch is to get a bill passed by a sizable majority in the Senate. This new measure would then go to the House with some hope of overcoming the die-hard opposition.

With little or no political clout left, the White House is doing nothing to move IDA along. That is a principal reason for the drift. Until his resignation, Secy. of the Treasury George P. Shultz gave strong support to the international monetary commitments, as did his under secretary, Paul A. Volcker, who is also leaving. The responsibility for a push falls on Secy. of State Henry A. Kissinger, whose burden is intolerable.

IN THE SAME WAY the sweeping new trade bill is becalmed on the dead sea of Congress. The opposition is vociferous. It includes such noisy demagogues as Sen. Vance Hartke with the swelling chorus of the AFL-CIO. Senators who might be for the bill are apathetic.

During extensive hearings on the first trade bill in 12 years to have a chance of passage, very few senators paid any attention to the complicated measure. At times only one senator was present in the hearing room. The bill is considered essential for the conduct of new trade negotiations with Europe and Japan.

The cry about the lack of leadership in the executive is matched by the apathy and drift in the Congress. The congressional process is hopelessly antiquated.

This is no internal quarrel that we can work out in our own good time. We are not alone. The Europeans and the Japanese are beginning to ask whether we are with it or not. A superpower that opts out puts the world in double jeopardy when the challenge to a stable future is so menacing.

ERNEST B. FURGURSON: End Of Plenty

COMING UP ON OMAHA — For the past two months I have been busing, driving and flying across the richest nation in man's history, and what I have seen and learned since boyhood about it collides head-on with what we are told now by the farm experts.

How can the world ever go hungry, as our agricultural fears say, as long as America is still functioning?

The spring wheat and fat Angus in the Shenandoah Valley, the 300-year-old tobacco and peanut fields along the Coastal Plain and the Piedmont, the peach orchards down through Georgia, the cloving fertility of the middle plains of Florida, the winter vegetables that spring up under the touch of migratory farmhands in South Dade — surely the Eastern Seaboard alone produces enough food to feed our country. Doesn't it? It used to.

IF THAT IS NOT enough anymore, cross the mountains, to the black earth of Ohio, in the spring snow south of Columbus, the land Daniel Boone and friends called heaven. Cross Indiana to the cornfields and pigpens of southern Illinois, Sangamon County where Lincoln used to split rails. Cross the great river to Missouri, where the plains begin.

Go down the Mississippi Valley to the little towns beneath the levee, where the land was regularly washed away and enriched again by spring floods in the past.

So most of the cotton and soybean farms no longer endure that annual punishment and reward; there are giant fertilizer plants right amid the fields, like the one at Helena, Ark., that turn out the stuff of renewal by the thousands of tons, all of it for the farm lands of America.

AT LEAST IT USED to be. In Helena one morning with Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., he campaigning among the otherwise followers of Gov. George Wallace, I heard the first suggestion that perhaps things were not still the way they always were. The farmers were complaining to the senator that fertilizer prices were being driven up because so much of it was being sold overseas; they thought price controls or export controls or both should be ordered.

The senator said reasonably that to

Newspapergirls 'Way Back In World War II

I wish I had written sooner, but being so busy I neglected to do so.

It's about that law 1938, not allowing girls to deliver newspapers. During World War II around 1941-42, I was the first girl I-J carrier, and then there were more to follow. The war certainly was not an excuse to allow girls to deliver newspapers because of boy shortage at 10 or 11 years. My mother still has friends and my customers, saying they never had another newspaper boy deliver papers as good as I did.

Survey Shows Little Advantage To Merger

Once again the issue of whether Belvedere and Tiburon should merge is under discussion at the level of the two city councils. Preliminaries have already generated public comment, some thoughtful and some irresponsible.

Fortunately, new facts are now available to buttress an intelligent discussion on the subject. Last summer the Belvedere City Council retained our firm to study city operations. It requested recommendations on how the council should be organized and how the city should be managed over the next three to five years to meet resident needs at least cost to the taxpayer.

One requirement of the study was to survey residents and find out how they rated the city on the services it provides.

Two key conclusions relating to the merger issue emerged from the survey:

1. Belvedere residents are for the most part quite satisfied with their city as it is and with the services provided.
2. Although concerned about rising taxes, the great majority clearly prefer to pay a premium for their autonomy.

"I have a suggestion for raising money, Dick: Let's have a garage sale."

Leaving the survey apart, our analysis also showed that Belvedere's per capita costs for city government are not significantly out of line with other nearby cities, and in aggregate are actually lower than those in Tiburon.

If Belvedere City Council members conclude from our study that this is not the time for the two cities to merge, they are simply being responsive to the needs and recent expressions of their constituents — and that, after all, is how the system is supposed to work.

Fair Play Lacking In City's Sign Policy

The San Rafael sign ordinance to increase attractiveness is a mighty welcome policy, however there is one feature of it that is just plain unfair.

The basic policy of allowing a use that is legal today but illegal tomorrow, in most cases, runs counter to the American ideas of fair play. The Constitution does not permit "after the fact" laws. Also this was recognized in zoning laws that permit older uses.

Admittedly times change and oldtime uses can degenerate into public nuisances or worse. But to insist someone change a sign that was legal yesterday but illegal today means the city must show either the old signs are a serious public nuisance or else pay for the correction as it does when it condemns other uses.

Cannot the city wait until old signs are gradually changed and new signs take over? If not the city or development might consider paying for the changes.

Assembly Symposium Report Unbelievable

Many thanks for your two articles, "Sweet Unreason in California Assembly," in tonight's (April 19) I-J editorial page. You are doing a real service to inform citizens of such complete "unreason" contemplated by our representatives in Sacramento. It is hard to believe the writers of this "document" have any sense at all, just common sense, let alone intelligence.

It leads credence to the old idea that "someone" is trying to undermine our country and instigate its demise. One wonders who and why, for no people with sense could conceive of this "document."

Claims Discrimination Against Vocational Nurses

Discrimination is a word we hear frequently these days, mostly in regard to minority group. Let me tell you of a minority group that is being discriminated against right here in Marin County. First let me ask you this. Do you know what a California licensed vocational nurse is? In order to get a license one has to attend a specialized school for 18 months and then pass a state test.

When you are in the hospital and have some ailment that requires skillful and competent nursing an LVN is assigned to take care of you. The doctor's orders frequently indicate TLC, which means tender loving care.

Recently Marin General Hospital gave an increase in salary to all categories with the exception of 37 LVNs, who were at the top of the scale because they had already a reality in much of the world. Food rationing, red and blue coupons like we remember from World War II, is possible in America. At the very least, Washington is going to be asking us soon to watch our eating the way we watched our thermostats and driving last winter.

One reason is that the rich nations elsewhere finally are demanding to eat as Americans eat — beef whenever they want it — and for the first time they have enough money to pay for it. Converting crops into meat effectively reduces them by about five times. The other reason is too familiar: the simple fact that world population is growing faster than even we, with our far-reaching plains and irrigated valleys, can feed it.

Heading home, I realized the hard facts deny what my eyes have seen. And if there is any overriding lesson from this time on the road, about what our duty will be beyond Watergate, beyond the fuel shortage, it is that population control must be confronted, despite all the religious, racial, chauvinist emotions it stirs. Beside it, matters like impeachment and gasoline allocations are going to shrink into so-what footnotes in our history.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

April 22, 1964
North Marin Water District directors voted to hold an election on whether the district should fluoridate its water supply.

The New York World Fair opened.

20 YEARS AGO

April 22, 1954
Mayor Fraser Cudworth abruptly resigned from the San Anselmo City Council at its first meeting following the municipal election, leaving the council split 2-2 on choice of a new mayor.

An ambitious plan to open a new state park on Point Reyes Peninsula was set for public hearing June 14.

WILL ROGERS SAYS . . .

"Everybody will start reading the papers, now that the baseball season has opened. I was able to be at the baseball opening in Philadelphia, the Phillies and the Braves. In some cities they meet at the plate and march to center field and raise last year's pennant. They didn't do that. They stuck to the regulation stuff and raised the American flag. I don't care how low a team gets in baseball, that is one thing that is never denied them. They are always allowed the same use of the flag as the good teams.

"They had three umpires. One to correct the other two." — April 25, 1926. (All rights reserved for Will Rogers Memorial Commission. Edited by Bryan Sterling.)

Change In Bridge Board Composition Needed

The increase in commute fares by eliminating the 25 cent discount now being considered by the Golden Gate Bridge directors would result in the following percentage increase: Santa Rosa, 20 per cent; Petaluma, 25; San Rafael, 33½; Sausalito, 50.

This increase is "justified" by the new drivers contract. Are we to believe that they received an increase of 20 to 50 per cent?

The solution is simple but extremely difficult. First, the composition of the board must be changed. The dominance by San Francisco was justified when San Francisco assumed the major responsibility for payment of the bridge bonds. This liability no longer exists. The bridge district was expanded to a bridge and highway district and then to a bridge, highway and transportation district. And, we are still dominated by San Francisco. Second, the directors are appointed and are not responsive to the public.

Board Majority Breaks Apart In Decisions On Land Use

It's beginning to appear that the honeymoon has ended among Marin County Supervisors Baptiste, Giacomini and Wornum.

It's not that they haven't had their differences before. But lately they have been dividing on land use and planning matters, where once they were of one mind.

FIRST HINT of the division came when the Big Rock and Foster ranches were rezoned last November to allow 176 "ranchettes."

Wornum and Giacomini pushed for 60-acre zoning (which would have allowed only 30 homes), while Baptiste sided with Arrigoni and Roumiguere for 10-acre zoning and 176 homes.

Baptiste, long a proponent of "A-60" zoning, argued that such zoning was not valid in this case. The ranches lie adjacent to the "eastern urbanized corridor" and should be developed as a buffer zone to rural West Marin, he said.

Several months later, the table was turned when Baptiste called for A-60 zoning on several large tracts of land near the Nicasio Reservoir.

No way, said Giacomini and Wornum. The property owners had been promised greater use of the land when it was last rezoned in 1973. They voted with Arrigoni to permit more homes.

IT WAS WORNUM'S turn on the rack last week. He urged, and Baptiste torpedoed, quick approval of the Strawberry Community Plan — including Ring Mountain.

This was strange. Baptiste's position, supported by Supervisors Arrigoni and Roumiguere, was to exclude a major portion of Ring Mountain from the plan, which calls for sharp limitations on development.

The move to exclude the mountain, in effect, guts the Strawberry plan by leaving the door open to mass development — 680 homes under current zoning.

Baptiste and the others said the land should be left untouched pending negotiations for its purchase as open space.

That sounds good, but it's inconsistent. A month ago supervisors accepted a report from the open space district which says, in part:

"Your staff believes that any specific negotiations for purchase of open space within these areas (Ring Mountain) should be deferred until the current planning and rezoning activities have been concluded."

Thus, last week's action by Baptiste, Roumiguere and Arrigoni has placed the future of Ring Mountain in limbo.

ON ONE HAND, they have directed that planning be delayed until open space negotiations are over. On the other hand, they have agreed to delay open space negotiations until the planning is over.

Meanwhile, the 352-acre Defebach property remains as is with its potential of stacking 680 homes on the southern face of the mountain.

As a matter of procedure, the board's decision to exclude Ring Mountain must first be considered by the planning commission and then voted on (again) by the board of supervisors.

Maybe by that time, Baptiste, Roumiguere and Arrigoni will have figured out what they're trying to do.

People Will Do Anything To Lose Weight, Except...

By ROB TREICHLER

A woman in Nottingham, England, had her mouth glued — yes, glued shut four months ago in an effort to lose weight. She is subsisting entirely on liquids and accumulated body fats.

It's working! She was down to less than 180 pounds from her starting weight of 247. Two questions present themselves: How do you go about gluing a mouth shut? And why are these nutty stories always datelined England? I suspect the British of occasionally putting us on.

Remember the report about the guy who was eating an entire car, one piece at a time, and taking about two years to do it? That could be one of the answers to the deserted auto problem, albeit a slow one. And of course, the guy should have no iron deficiency problems...

Two Views Of Saxbe Are Given

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Depending on who makes the assessment, outspoken Attorney General William B. Saxbe is either "a breath of fresh air in government" or a man with his foot in his mouth.

The first view is that of Associate Attorney General J. D. Sawyer, a realist who has helped Saxbe in successive jobs and probably knows him better than anyone in Washington.

The second is implicitly held by Randolph Hearst, president and editor of the San Francisco Examiner, who last week called Saxbe's comments on his daughter "irresponsible" and said Saxbe "evidently talks off the top of his head when he should be listening."

Saxbe had declared that Patricia Hearst was "not a reluctant participant" in a San Francisco bank robbery, adding that her kidnapers were a group of "common criminals" and she "is a part of it."

The president of the American Bar Association Chesterfield Smith, said he did not think Saxbe should have commented on the case.

Saxbe, who left the Senate last January to head the Justice Department, has created a number of "flaps" — a term he uses with his ready remarks on almost any subject.

One "flap" came after he was named to be attorney general but before he took the oath of office, when he said he thought the case of the Kent State shootings — in his home state of Ohio — should be closed.

Since then, criticism of Saxbe has centered around his statements about the Hearst case, beginning when he said the FBI should storm the hideout of Miss Hearst's captors.

"You know, when you've got your health, you've got everything! That's why I exercise regularly, get lots of sleep and eat old automobiles for iron-rich blood." That article about the guy that ate cars came out of England, too.

PEOPLE ARE MORE concerned with overweight than just about anything. They will attempt to lose weight with some of the wildest schemes while ignoring the sure-fire method everyone knows will work: Stop eating.

The reasons for excessive eating sound almost as ridiculous as the results look. People eat because they're worried. About what? They're worried about overweight, so they eat. They eat because they're upset? About what? They're upset about overweight, so they eat.

There are strange operations available for the universal ailment. Surgeons can remove a section of the intestine, speeding the food through the body before it is utilized as food and avoidupois. Sort of like a smog control system in reverse. It uses more fuel and gets less energy and creates more waste.

Then there's the stomach lift. A doctor cuts in to the abdomen and scoops out the offending pounds, and then stitches the skin back up tight. It is not known whether he asks the patient to say "when" or holds up a mirror so Fatty can nod in approval as they are reducing his middle, or if the doctor ad libs it once he puts scalpel to skin. My distrust of this procedure lies in my inability to comprehend skin doing what the doctors expect it to. I envision gaining and popping out of the stretched cut skin like a squeezed banana, or losing additional pounds and appearing as a sack of doorknobs in a gunny sack.

REDUCING IS REALLY nothing more nor less than a private energy crisis. The solution is to eat a little less than the body burns. I wonder where you'd get that kind of glue?

Zebra Killer Stop Policy Is Protested

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A storm of protest grew yesterday as the San Francisco Police Department pressed its stop-and-search manhunt for the "Zebra" gunmen who have slain 12 persons.

"You can't have 'probable cause' for the arrests of hundreds of people," said an attorney. "That's like trying to get a search warrant for a Victorian house in San Francisco."

The lawyer, Paul Halvonik, general counsel of the American Civil Liberties Union of Northern California, was referring to both the architecture of the city and the U.S. Constitution.

Halvonik filed a federal court suit last week challenging the police search methods and was joined in a similar court action by five black San Franciscans.

Police have launched the biggest manhunt in San Francisco history — code-named "Operation Zebra" — for the gunmen, who have shot 18 citizens on the streets without apparent motive.

All the victims were white and the killers described as black.

Police artists came up with two composite drawings from witnesses' descriptions and the city has been flooded with reproductions of the drawings. Police say they are stopping only young black males who resemble the pictures.

"Operation Zebra" officers, aided by volunteer Sheriff's deputies, have stopped on the streets more than 300 black males who look like the drawings. Some have been stopped several times.

Democrats Warned Not To Make Nixon Martyr

CHICAGO (UPI) — Democratic National Committee Chairman Robert Strauss warned his party today against making a martyr of President Nixon by demanding his resignation.

Instead, he told Democratic governors meeting here "Let us press for a fair and nonpartisan constitutional process."

"Let the system respond openly, fairly and honorably and by so responding, demonstrate to the nation its strength and integrity," Strauss said in a prepared speech to the Democratic Governors Conference.

"And for those who would call for Richard Nixon's resignation, whether they be Republican or Democrat, let us remember what this president was and did when he perceived himself a hero. I ask you, what horrors await us if he is able to characterize and portray himself as a resigned hero."

The speech was the Democratic chairman's closest approach to date to a call for impeachment of the President, a position Strauss has steadfastly refused to take because of his highly partisan position.

The governors also were to hear from Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., and then go into closed session to consider policy positions on public issues to be submitted to the National Governors Conference in Seattle in June.

About a dozen of the 32 Democratic governors were on hand yesterday for the opening session of the conference, where a panel of public-opinion pollsters told them that the political tide is running with their party, but warned against trying to cash in on the Watergate scandals without offering solid programs to the voters.

The same advice was offered by Strauss in his speech and by Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia at a news conference.

Strauss ticked off a list of 30 major bills vetoed by Nixon and added: "If we put together the kind of political organization that can tell that kind of story to America, who needs Watergate to run on? Not we Democrats."

"We must offer (the voters) positive, constructive, specific and responsible alternatives to Nixon abuse of public trust, to Nixon economics, to Nixon incompetence and to Nixon vetoes" the Democratic chairman said.

Carter's warning was more pointed. He predicted that if Nixon was still in office in November, the voters would elect a "veto proof" Democratic House and Senate. But, he said, that could result in the loss of the presidency in 1976 unless the Democrats came up with effective programs to deal with problems such as inflation and the energy crisis. He said the Democratic congressional and political leadership at this time is not sufficiently unified to offer such programs.

GUN SAFETY AND SKILL

Members of San Anselmo Troop 15, sponsored by San Anselmo Lions Club, receive safety instruction and then compete in target shooting in one event of the Marin Boy Scout Camporee. Firing .22-caliber rifles at hillside targets Saturday, under the supervision of Chris Greenlee (standing) are (top to bottom) Mark Greenlee, Kim Byers and Stanley

Martin. The Thunderbird Patrol of Greenbrae Troop 59, sponsored by the Greenbrae Property Owners Association, was the overall winner of the Camporee, placings determined by team competition in nine events such as log rolling, semaphore signalling, and obstacle course running.

San Anselmo Oakland Man Loses Life May Halt In Seashore Cliff Fall Development

A moratorium on all new development in San Anselmo will be considered by the city council at 8 p.m. tomorrow at city hall.

The ban will be discussed as a measure to halt new sewage connections and thus stem the tide of fecal matter that floods San Anselmo Creek during rainy weather, according to Mayor Martin G. Blinder.

Blinder noted that the council has already asked the regional Water Quality Control Board to ban new hookups to the local sanitary system. "Until such time as work has been completed to prevent infiltration of rain water into the sewage system and the system is rendered adequate to handle present hookups without any relief valves into the storm drain system, no new hookups should be permitted," according to the mayor.

The council will also consider appointments to vacancies on the library board and parks and recreation commission.

Play Scheduled

The College of Marin Department of Theatre Arts will present the Luigi Pirandello play, "Six Characters in Search of an Author" beginning May 3 at 8 p.m. at Theatre III, 27 Kensington Road, San Anselmo. The play also will be performed May 4, 5, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 15, 16, 17 and 18. Anne McNaughton is guest director.

An Oakland man, scrambling up a sheer shale cliff in the Point Reyes National Seashore, fell about 100 feet to his death shortly before noon yesterday.

The dead man was identified as Lawrence M. Giacomini, 35. Herb Gercke, law enforcement officer at the park, said the accident occurred in the southern end of the park, about 1,000 yards north of the Palomar Beach Trail.

He said Giacomini, who was alone and had no climbing equipment, was attempting to climb up a very dangerous cliff about 200 feet high, when he lost his footing and plummeted to the beach below.

A woman, who saw him fall, reported the accident to the Point Reyes Bird Observatory and a Coast Guard helicopter was sent to pick up the injured man.

Although a Coast Guardsman attempted mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, Giacomini was dead on arrival by ambulance from Crissy Field in San Francisco at Letterman General Hospital at the Presidio of San Francisco.

Gercke said that Giacomini was not with a hiking club that was in the park yesterday and that the cliff he was attempting to climb has a sign at the top saying it is dangerous.

The San Francisco coroner's office said his death was due to multiple injuries.

Woman Injured In Auto Crash; Driver Charged

A Woodacre woman suffered facial cuts, a skull fracture and a concussion today when the car in which she was a passenger swerved to avoid hitting a dog and ran into an embankment.

Patricia Anderson, 24, of 25 Maple Road, was in surgery this morning at Marin General Hospital following the 2 a.m. smashup.

Driver of the car, Daniel Joseph Healy, 28, of the Maple Road address, was booked into county jail on suspicion of felony drunken driving. He was held in lieu of $1,250 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

The crash occurred while Healy was driving west on Rock Ridge Road west of Madrone Avenue in Woodacre, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Protest On Gas Taxes Called For

The Marin County Transit District board will be urged tomorrow to protest how its allocation of state gas tax revenues is to be used by the Golden Gate Bridge District.

In a letter to the board, Gen. Mgr. Ray W. Foreaker Jr., said a greater share of the funds should be used for local transit in Marin.

For the last two years, he continued, about 25 per cent of the money has been credited to the county for local bus service provided by the bridge district.

Foreaker said the transit board should seek 70 per cent next year for local transit. Such is the case in the East Bay counties, he said.

Marin's share of state gas tax revenues has totaled more than $1 million each year. The bridge district has used the money to offset operating deficits and to purchase new buses.

Foreaker urged that Marin forward its protest to the Metropolitan Transportation Commission which allocates the state funds. The transit board will consider the matter tomorrow at its 8:30 a.m. meeting at Civic Center.

Two Brawls, Escape Reported At Prison

Two brawls and an escape took place during the weekend at San Quentin Prison.

The result today was one missing man, another hospitalized convict and several locked up in connection with fights.

The escapee was identified as James E. Paster, 27, a car thief from Los Angeles County. Officials said he walked away from a dormitory at the minimum security ranch. He was reported missing during a bed check shortly after midnight yesterday.

Paster was described as 5 feet 10 inches tall, weighing 155 pounds, with brown hair and eyes and a fair complexion.

He had been at San Quentin since June 1971 and was turned down for a parole in January. He had had another date with the parole board in October.

On Saturday, officers broke up two fights in exercise yards. The first, a fist fight involving four adjustment center inmates, was stopped at about 10 a.m. by officers who fired two warning shots.

The second, about noon, was in the exercise yard of the North Block segregation unit. But the time officers were able to stop six scuffling inmates, one of them had been stabbed nine times.

Paul A. Stenerson, 25, serving a term for second degree murder and drug convictions in Orange County, was reported in good condition today, though, at the prison hospital.

Officers were unable to give reasons for the fights, and had not named a suspect in the stabbing, although all those involved were locked up today. No weapon was found.

The jewelers' term "precious stone" applies only to diamonds, emeralds, rubies and sapphires. The pearl, which can be a gem of great value, is not considered a stone.

6 WAYS TO COOK WITH LESS ENERGY.

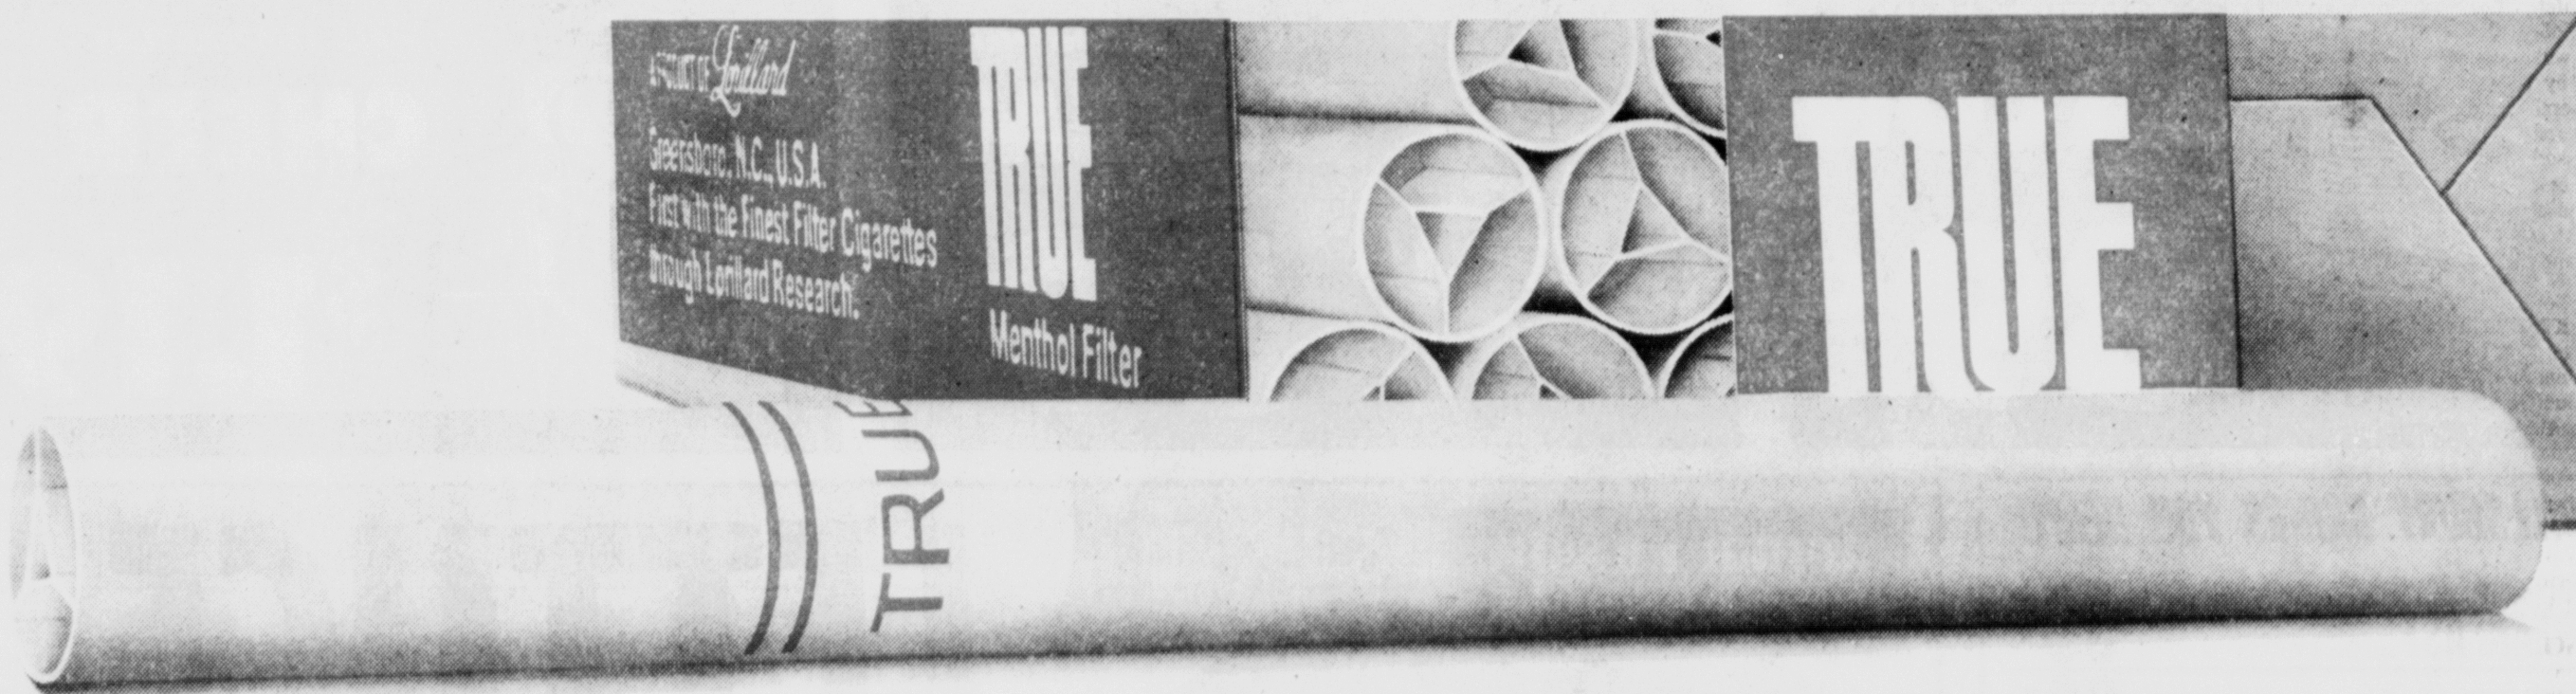

You use more energy in your kitchen than in any other room. Economize with these suggestions:

1. Make sure your oven and surface burners or units are shut off when not in use.
2. Keep oven doors completely closed until food is cooked. Every time you open the door, the oven temperature drops from 25° to 50° (Oven door windows aid the "peek-a-boo" cook.)
3. Prepare a complete meal when using the oven—main course, vegetable and dessert. Use foods that cook well at similar temperatures. (Exception: delicate green or leafy vegetables.)

4. Use cooking utensils with flat bottoms and tight fitting covers whenever possible. Be sure pots and pans are the right size for range burners or units.
5. Bake and broil from a cold oven start. There's no need to preheat an oven.
6. Thaw frozen meats in refrigerator before cooking. Cook as soon as possible after thawing, and do not re-freeze unless meat has been cooked. A defrosted roast requires approximately 33% less cooking time than a frozen one.

These are just a few of the many ways you can conserve energy.

By JOAN LISETOR
Because she "loves old people" energetic Minnie Dinucci, 79, of San Anselmo has served 15,000 hours as a volunteer at Kentfield Medical Hospital in the past 14 years.

She was a patient there, when the hospital was Center Medical, and after her release her doctor suggested she go back and help. For three years she spent three days a week from 7:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. working as a volunteer. Since 1963 she has cut her schedule back to two days to give her more time to visit former patients who are recuperating at other hospitals.

Her days at the hospital begin in the kitchen, where she checks to make certain each of the 56 patients has had breakfast. She helps feed patients who cannot feed themselves. After breakfast she makes rounds of the hospital to make sure each patient's name is on his bed. Her next assignment is to deliver the mail to patients. She reads letters to those who cannot read and answer letter for those who cannot write.

SHE SETS the table for lunch, then clears it after the meal to make room for the afternoon games - bingo or crafts. Her clear voice fills the room when she calls the number for a game of bingo.

More than cheer, Mrs. Dinucci brings service to the hospital, according to the staff. She walks down the hall poking her head into each room and asks, "How are you doing?"

"I tease them. I don't just talk to them," she said. Mrs. Dinucci is a native of San Francisco and moved to Marin 14 years ago. Her husband, a retired florist, died shortly after they moved to

Volunteer Honored For 2,000 Hours

Marin General Hospital volunteer Mrs. Benedict Viering of San Anselmo was awarded a pin for 2,000 hours of service to the hospital.

Also honored with service pins were Mrs. Weller Pierce of Greenbrae for 1,900 hours, Mrs. Donald Murray of San Rafael for 1,800 hours and volunteers Mmes. Simon Anixter of Kentfield, Gus Miller of Inverness and Harold Weiss of San Rafael were recognized for 1,700 hours of service.

Bike Path Bunny Is Unmasked

By MOLLY MARIN

The friendly bunny who greeted cyclists along the Tiburon bicycle path on Easter morning has been "unmasked" as 12-year-old Reed Benet, son of Dr. and Mrs. Leslie Benet of Belvedere.

Wearing the March Hare's costume from last year's Marin Shakespeare Festival production of "Alice in Wonderland," Reed jumped from behind a tall cluster of grass near Blackie's Pasture to distribute Easter eggs to the surprised cyclists.

He had the deed planned since last summer when he got the costume, according to his mother, Carol Benet. Reed has performed with the Shakespeare Festival for the past two seasons and will be in next month's production of "Rough and Ready" by the Mountain Play Association.

THE TRADITIONAL dinner dance marking the opening of the bay yachting season will be given at Corinthian Yacht Club in Tiburon on Saturday.

Cocktails will be served at 6:30 p.m., followed by dinner at 8 p.m., and dancing will begin at 9 p.m., said William Fuss, chairman.

ON THE opening day of the yachting season Sunday the Sausalito Yacht Club will serve brunch, beginning at 11 a.m. The galley will be open until 11 p.m., as groups return to the club from the parade across San Francisco Bay to celebrate the new season of boating action.

Commodore Clarence Nelson will lead the SYC contingent aboard his 40 foot yacht, the Green Buffalo, with a family group aboard. Other flag officers joining the colorful parade will be vice commodore George Barrett on his Pogo, and rear commodore Carl Lischke on his Triton class sloop, the Hula-lai.

Softness Is Word For Sportswear

The classics in sportswear for summer are very soft, without hard lines. Softness is the word. Fabrics include the old softies - jersey and soft knits. Anything uptight - narrow armholes, close-to-the-skin necklines, or tight waistlines - is out.

Marin. She keeps herself busy, because "I hate television and radio, so I never stay home."

She rarely misses her days at the hospital, except during her annual trip to either Europe or the Orient. She will leave on May 25 for Spain.

In her spare time Mrs. Dinucci shops for the patients, goes to church on Sundays and visits her family. She has a daughter, Irma Paolini of San Anselmo, and is the grandmother of Susan Paolini of San Rafael, Louis Paolini Jr. of San Anselmo and Ronny Paolini, a student at Pomona College. She has a great-grandson, Darren Bellach, 3 years old.

Petaluma Guild Elects Officers

Roberta Hatfield of Petaluma has been elected president of the Petaluma Community Guild, which sponsors an annual fund-raising event to purchase eyeglasses for Petaluma School District students.

A three year member of the guild, Mrs. Hatfield has served as vice president and chairman of the ways and means committee.

The guild, said Mrs. Hatfield, has sponsored an annual boat trip down the Petaluma River to Fisherman's Wharf for eight years. The money raised on the cruise is used for the eyeglasses for children whose parents can't afford to buy them and for lending convalescent equipment for those who can't afford to rent it.

Mrs. Hatfield is also a member of the Book Club, the Republican Women's Club and the American Association of University Women. A native of San Jose, Mrs. Hatfield received a degree in education from California State University, San Jose. She has been a resident of Sonoma County for 38 years.

Mrs. Hatfield is the wife of George C. Hatfield, a counselor at Petaluma High School, and the mother of Mrs. John A. Kolb and Robert G. Hatfield.

Officers to serve with Mrs. Hatfield are Mmes. Jack Dunaway, parliamentarian; William Nisson, vice president; Jack Gallagher, secretary, and Kenneth Kyle, treasurer.

Dinner-Dance Set Saturday

A dinner-dance will be held Saturday at the Sleepy Hollow Clubhouse in San Anselmo for parents of Sir Francis Drake High School students, members of the faculty and community.

The party will begin with a social hour at 6:30 p.m. and the buffet dinner will be served at 8:30 p.m. Drake students will prepare some of the foods.

An orchestra will play music from the swing era for the "Sentimental Journey" party theme. Stephen Rabley, Drake exchange student, will play guitar and Drake students Kim Husband, Valerie Grasso and Diano Olson will portray the Andrews Sisters for the entertainment.

Reservations are available from Thomas McEntee at Drake High School.

Training Classes For Book Program

Training classes for volunteers for the Junior Great Books Reading and Discussion program will be held four Tuesdays, beginning April 30, at Dominican College.

Sessions will be held from 9:30 a.m. to noon weekly. Volunteers who complete the training will be co-leaders of the discussion groups in Marin schools.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BITTEL

Guilt Over Affair Interferes With A Fairly Happy Marriage

DEAR HELEN:

I never thought I would need help, but here I am, 49 years old, married 24 years, happily for the most part, and in trouble because I had an affair with my partner's wife.

I don't know how it happened — I'm not the type to cheat — or if I ever loved this woman. She had had a few experiences and finds it easy to step out as her husband is easily fooled.

My wife is very affectionate. She thought I was sick during this past year — until she found out about the affair a month ago. She was hurt, but gave me the choice, and I chose to stay home. Thank God my children and my partner don't know!

Since then I have not seen the other woman, though she keeps calling me and begging me to come back. I think I can hold out, but the problem is, though my wife has forgiven me, I find it hard to forget. I can't seem to express myself to her as I once did. I feel like a hypocrite and my guilt gets in the way. My wife, a wonderful person in all ways, says she feels insecure and unwanted, which is far from the truth. I love her more than ever.

But how do you erase what should never have happened? — R.D.M.

DEAR R.:

Leftover guilt has ruined more marriages than infidelity, so work the guilt out with straightforward talk. Your wife has forgiven you — why "punish" her more by acting like a hangdog? She may take your nonexpressiveness to mean you're unhappy with her and wishing you were back with the other woman.

Let her know you're where you want to be and then stop doing penance. It's awfully hard living with a man who wears a hair shirt, and if you don't believe me, ask your wife! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I don't want to get in trouble, but I can't stand to see this happening to children.

This couple has six children, all under 12. The shack they live in is filthy — I guess the mother gave up after constant beatings. The father makes all the kids work hard in the fields, and beats them so that they come to school with big bruises. (The mother's front teeth are knocked out by him).

He won't let any of them see a doctor, no matter how sick. Worst of all, the 11-year-old daughter told my girl that her father makes her sleep with him and he has threatened to kill anyone in the family who tells.

I can't sign my name, but you can print this, as the parents never read a paper. Can I report them without endangering myself or my family? — TERRIBLY CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: Talk to your County Health Nurse, or to the Child and Family Welfare Agency in your town. An investigation will be made, and your name will not be mentioned.

And don't delay! Did you know that in your state, a person aware of child abuse is required by law to report it? This is part of your obligations as a citizen. — H.

A Feminist Case Heads To Court

By MARGARET McGOVERN STORRS, Conn. (UPI) — A battle of the sexes at the University of Connecticut is heading for a courtroom showdown.

The gauntlet went down in 1970 when the Women's Equity Action League, an offshoot of the National Organization for Women, filed a complaint that the university was discriminating against women in several areas. The university was among 200 universities in the nation hit by the complaint.

One criticism concerned the small number of women in faculty and staff posts and the lack of a feminist representative on campus.

The school got that woman's representative — Gail Shea, in 1972, and she was fired a year later and is still without a job.

Miss Shea was an instructor in sociology in 1971 when she and a group of women on campus compiled a report on the status of women. The group found that women were noticeably absent in many job categories. The report was presented to then president Homer D. Babbidge who concurred with the findings.

HE APPOINTED Miss Shea to be assistant provost and a women's representative in June 1972. She said she understood from Babbidge the assignment was to run for a minimum of two years.

Two weeks after Miss Shea started her job, Babbidge left for Yale, where he became master of Timothy Dwight College. He has since entered the Democratic race for the gubernatorial nomination.

Provost Edward Gant took over as acting president at UConn, and that's when the trouble began, Miss Shea said.

Her job description was aimed at improving the status of women, organizing a women's center, drafting part of the university's Affirmative Action Plan, investigating daycare centers for women's staff and faculty members, and helping departments recruit qualified women.

"But when I tried to do the job, I was prevented from it," she said.

LAST JUNE Miss Shea was abruptly notified in the first part of the month that her job ended June 30.

She had a premonition earlier of what was coming — one day she showed up for work and found her office had been shifted from the administration building to the home economics department. She's suing.

Love is...

...planting flowers for her.

MONEY MATTERS

Keep Close Tab On Joint Account

By ROBERT EDWARDS
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

My wife and I have a joint checking account, and we both deposit money and write checks. Every time our account is overdrawn the bank sticks us with a $3 debit. How can we keep track between us to prevent overdrawing our account? — L.A. The only sure method for controlling a joint account is to keep only one check register or one master register with a secondary register. Individual lists of checks at the back of separate checkbooks won't work. Keep track by using end-stub checks (you bank will supply them.)

List each check and deposit chronologically and keep a running balance of uncommitted funds. List checks every day if you operate close to the line.

If you prefer album-type checks, one of you should keep the master register with pay-check deposits. Transfer part of the balance from the master register to the secondary register. As long as both running balances are "in the black," you shouldn't have any overdrafts. At the end of each month check the balance in the single or master register against the bank statement.

How do you define a "bald" tire? Seems to me that any kind of tread would be okay as long as the surface wasn't slick. — T.C. Generally, tires with a 1/16-inch groove depth remaining are considered worn out, although not actually "bald." According to a detailed study of disabled vehicles by the U.S. Bureau of Standards, tires with 1/16 inch of tread remaining needed repair ten times more often than new tires. The ratio increases to 40 to 1 when rubber was worn smooth. So, even though you might squeeze a few more miles out of an old tire, you could lose any gain by having to pay for servicing it.

Recently we received a notice that life insurance would be issued to cover the outstanding principal on our mortgage. Are we required to take this out? Is mortgage insurance a good buy? — E.W.

So-called mortgage insurance is really decreasing term life insurance. It makes good sense because the decreasing value of the term life insurance roughly matches the decreasing amount you owe on the principal. Consider mortgage insurance as part of your overall insurance program. However, as an afterthought, your mortgage company cannot require you to purchase life insurance strictly for their benefit. Also, the policy offered by your mortgage company may not provide the lowest-cost protection. An increase in term group coverage available through your employer might cost less, for example.

Explore other alternative before deciding on the plan offered by your mortgage company.

When I am buying steaks, some are graded "prime" and others "choice," but I can see little difference many times. What really is the difference? — M.C.K.

Basically, prime beef includes marbling flecks of fat within the lean for the ultimate in tenderness, juiciness, and flavor. Choice grades have slightly less marbling than prime.

U. S. Department of Agriculture graders work in meat packing plants to grade meat quality. Grading is only meaningful when looking at whole carcasses or wholesale cuts, not individual retail cuts. The purple grade marking is applied with a roller to assure the marking will remain on each small piece.

MOOD OF MYTHOLOGY — An air of ancient grandeur and mystery pervades this crumbling structure with its hybrid architecture, exposed walls overgrown with vines, and its pair of frightened bear cubs. An intaglio print in atmospheric and pearlescent hues by Eleanor Rappe from her suite of "Medieval Studies," it is part of a six-artist group show at the Rose-Bernardi Gallery in Sausalito.

ART REVIEW

Work Of Women Has Variety Of Attitudes In Marin Exhibit

By ADA GARFINKEL
Six Bay Area women artists — four are from Marin — display a variety of attitudes in an exhibit which marks the opening of the Rose-Bernardi Gallery in Sausalito.
In the current mode of projecting personally informed outlooks and wish-fulfillment, Sheri Schulster describes her concept of the good life in ornately decorated rooms and meaningful mementos, such as the room-sized Spode teapot with its huge strawberry-topped lid which she envisions in "Dream," which she "would love to own someday."
Mrs. Schulster also loves tiger cats, cockatoos and parrots, flowers, and butterflies, and ornate Victorian and French furniture. Using radiant water-colors, she fills in the wiry penline outlines of these forms to create dazzling floral and organic forms that move plastically across her surfaces — walls, curtains, upholstery, rugs, and clothing.

"Mrs. Osborne's Birdcage" and "Her Room" are excellent examples of Mrs. Schulster's rich and symbolic work.
Moody, low-keyed colors and disturbing overtones of rage, resentment, and compassion motivate Eleanor Rappe's intaglio print series: "Animals That Were Hunted," while a sense of decadence pervades her mythological themes from antiquity.

In "Decoys," a pair of wooden ducks in darkened yellow-green are intriguingly unified with their red cast-shadows and bound by an embossed white outline. Irregular, hand-aid like strips and spots in deep plum and blue on the bodies of the ducks — and which Mrs. Rappe uses on several of her figures in other prints — become both surface textural decoration and visual surrogates for physical and emotional wounds.
Beatrice Bernardi — co-director of the gallery — draws groups of people and buildings in a single, kinetic line — drawing with a pen that never leaves the paper from start to finish. "Caracassonne," sketched in France and showing a group of medieval buildings has the look of an enlarged filigree-silver brooch.
The ethnic prints of Eleanor Bender are well-known to Marin viewers. Included in this exhibit are motifs from American and Aztec-Indian pottery and baskets, and ritualistic emblems including her recent "Peyote Bird."

Positive and negative shapes and spaces, and reversals of each other, and personal iconography are new developments in the dry-point etchings of Maggie Hazell-Rosen. Banded in a horizontal format, her series of incised and scratched "Friezes" recall ancient rock and wall carvings.
Rounding out the show is Susan Hersey whose silkscreen landscapes — some with photographic portraiture — are in analogous warm greens and blues with brief mottled accents of warm red-brown. "Green River" and "Bryce Canyon" are presented as spatial abstractions.
The present exhibit will continue through May 9, and may be seen Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. The Rose-Bernardi Gallery is located at 2631 Bridgeway.

Discussion Session Set On Ring Mountain Vote

A recent Marin County supervisors' decision to drop rezoning plans for Ring Mountain on the Tiburon Peninsula will be discussed at a joint meeting of the Strawberry Area Community Council and the Ring Mountain Advisory Committee tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the Strawberry Recreation Center.

Council vice president Sandra A. Dorsaneo said that the groups will suggest ways of overcoming the opposition of some supervisors to a proposed reduction in the future housing density on the mountain.

She said that representatives of Thomas Deffebach Jr., one of the major property owners on the mountain, will be at the meeting.

Deffebach had talked supervisors into dropping the rezoning on the ground that residents nearby should float a bond issue to buy his land instead of taking away his chance to develop it.

The Ring Mountain ridge includes parts of Corte Madera and Tiburon as well as unincorporated areas. Representatives from the two cities and Strawberry served on the Ring Mountain Advisory Committee which drew up the rezoning plans for the mountain.

Raise Offer To Teachers Is Criticized

During a marathon negotiation session Friday night and Saturday, the Novato Unified School District negotiators offered teachers a 3.5 per cent pay increase for the coming school year.

The offer was a counterproposal to the teachers initial request for a 22 per cent pay raise.

Jerrold Moore, president of the Novato Teachers Association, said the initial counterproposal of 3.5 per cent "completely ignores human needs."

Supt. James G. Bunker said the amount the district can spend is limited by state law and "the board has offered what it believed it can afford to offer, considering its income will be up only 5 per cent from last year."

The proposed 3.5 per cent pay raise, plus annual increments, increased costs of fringe benefits and a "hefty increase" in the district's contribution to the retirement fund would cost "slightly more than $400,000," Bunker said.

This, he said, would use up 80 per cent of the increased income without considering "anything else," including pay raises for nonteaching employees.

Moore said, "this will probably cause the teachers to lose even more confidence in the board's intentions than their initial offer did last year. The board's initial offer last year was 4.2 per cent."

Moore said tentative agreement was reached "on some leave policies, faculty meetings, department chairmen selection, processing of Blue Cross claims and services and other areas." He said he hopes the "spirit of agreement set this weekend will continue."

Bunker said another meeting will be held tomorrow afternoon.

The board also will have a closed session to instruct its negotiation representatives at the end of its regularly scheduled meeting tomorrow night.

During the regular session, starting at 8 p.m. at the Novato High School lecture hall, the board will discuss physical education and athletic policy and a request from the Little League for use of Hill Junior High School field.

Orchestra Sets Public Concert

The Dominican College Orchestra, under the direction of Richard Anastasio, will present a free public concert at 8 p.m. May 3 in Angelico Hall on the college campus.

'Raisin' Awarded Tony For Musical

NEW YORK (UPI) — "The River Niger" and "Raisin" won the Broadway theater's Tony Awards last night as, respectively, the best drama and best musical of a 12-month period ended March 24.

Both deal with Negro family life, and the author of the play is Joseph A. Walker, a Negro. While the producer and coadapter of the musical is white, Robert Nemiroff, the show is based on "A Raisin in the Sun," a drama of 15 years ago written by a black playwright, the late Lorraine Hansberry, who was Mrs. Nemiroff.

The top acting honors for drama went to Colleen Dewhurst for her work in the revival of Eugene O'Neill's "A Moon for the Misbegotten" and to Michael Moriarty of "Find Your Way Home."

First acting honors in musicals were won by Christopher Plummer for "Cyranos" and Virginia Capers of "Raisin."

Eleven attractions shared the competitive Tonys awarded in 18 categories for acting, writing, designing and so on. The revival of "Candide," which was not eligible for best musical honors, attracted the most awards, four, including one for best book of a musical which went to the librettist, Hugh Wheeler. He did a drastic revision of the libretto of the original "Candide."

The awards were announced during an ABC television special broadcast from the Shubert Theater where a capacity audience, including hundreds of show business personalities, sat through nearly three hours of entertainment and award presentations and acceptance speeches.

Nominees for the Tonys were chosen by a committee of critics and others appointed by the League of New York Theaters and Producers, which supervises the annual affair for the American Theater Wing, which founded the Tonys as a memorial to the late director Antonette Perry, its first president. Winners were determined through a secret ballot in which approximately 435 persons linked in some way to the theater voted.

Winners besides those already listed:

Score — "Gigi," music by Frederick Loewe, lyrics by Alan Jay Lerner.

Supporting actor, play — Ed Flanders, "A Moon for the Misbegotten."

Supporting actress, play — Frances Sternhagen, "The Good Doctor."

Supporting actor, musical — Tommy Tune, "Seesaw."

Supporting actress, musical — Jamie Sell, "Over Here!"

Director, play — Jose Quintero, "A Moon for the Misbegotten."

Director, musical — Harold Prince, "Candide."

Scenic designer — Frame and Eugene Lee, "Candide."

Costume designer — Franne Lee, "Candide."

Lighting designer — Jules Fisher, "Ulysses in Nighttown."

Choreographer — Michael Bennett, "Seesaw."

Performers on the program, doing bits from current and past musicals, included Carol Channing, the Andrews Sisters, Virginia Capers, Ralph Carter, Michele Lee, Florence Henderson, Will Geer, Joel Grey, Charles Nelson Reilly, Nancy Walker, John Payne, Bea Arthur, Harvey Lembeck, Cleavon Little and Alice Faye.

Robert Preston, Miss Henderson, Peter Falk and Cicely Tyson were the hosts for the program.

Honorary awards were given by the League to singers Liza Minnelli and Bette Midler for concert engagements in Broadway theaters, to "A Moon for the Misbegotten," "Candide" and Peter Cook and Dudley Moore, authors and stars of "Good Evening."

Two Girls Cited In Burglary

Two teen-age girls from Mill Valley were arrested yesterday in an attempt to burglarize a Belvedere flower shop, police said.

Belvedere police said they received a report at about 4:30 p.m. that two people were inside the closed Tiburon Flowers at the Boardwalk Shopping Center.

On investigation police said they found the girls, one 14, the other 13. Police said they had climbed through a skylight on the roof.

The two were released to their parents and cited to the county probation department. Names of juveniles are withheld on a standing order of Marin Superior Court.

Concert Cancelled

An organ concert by Karl Krumbach, scheduled for tomorrow night at the first Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo, has been cancelled. The concert was cancelled because Krumbach will not tour America as planned; according to a church spokesman.

AUDUBORN SOCIETY TOUR

A Bird Walk At Richardson Bay

By MARY LEYDECKER

What to do on an idyllic Saturday morning in April?

For about 30 men, women and children, the decision was to amble along a path through waist-high grass spotted with wildflowers, pausing from time to time to peer up at a tall tree or gaze at a serene and sparkling bay.

The scene was the National Audubon Society's Richardson Bay Sanctuary, and Saturday's event was a two-hour nature walk sponsored by the Tiburon Parks and Recreation Department.

Philip Schaeffer, the sanctuary's manager-ranger, led the walk, which attracted both some pretty experienced "birders" as well as some rank amateurs. (Among the former were three young Tiburon boys — who came equipped with binoculars, bird books and a vast store of information about birds.)

"I feel like an intruder," a woman remarked as the group set off.

First, Schaeffer led the walkers outside the sanctuary, to a tree on the road nearby. "Some of these birds don't seem to understand what we're here for," Schaeffer said with a smile, noting that a family of bush tits had chosen to nest outside the Audubon property.

While the group peered with naked eyes or through binoculars at the tree, Schaeffer described the bush tit's nest — well hidden in a pine tree and camouflaged to look much like a pine cone.

The first to say "I see it," was one of the youthful bird watchers, but soon most everyone had found the nest. Schaeffer explained that the bush tit is "a very fastidious bird," who sometimes will drop a morsel of food in order to pick up a flower to decorate her home.

As the group reentered the Audubon property, the bush tit family was sighted on some bushes near the bay, and some walkers quietly went to watch them more closely.

In the quiet and clear spring air, the sound of many birds' songs was especially sweet. They became even sweeter to the inexperienced ear when Schaeffer explained that the music was "courtship singing" — birds looking for spring mates.

As Schaeffer said, "let's all be quiet and just listen," the song of a tiny hummingbird, his little chest a flash of bright scarlet, came from the top of a bush.

Crows, not nearly so appealing as the hummingbird, were sighted in a eucalyptus tree. Schaeffer, though, said that crows are "fun birds to have around." He said their awkward antics in building a nest and their fusses with some neighboring crows will "have you in hysterics."

"How do you ever get any work done around here?" a woman listener jokingly asked Schaeffer as he described the crows.

The trail soon led through a dense thicket and to a little pond. Another quaint bird, Anna's hummingbird, which Schaeffer said courts and sings all year round, was sighted there.

Some of nature's less attractive aspects also were pointed out by Schaeffer — great, thriving clumps of poison oak and hordes of caterpillars which had made mincemeat out of oak tree leaves.

A profusion of late spring wildflowers on a hillside were named — Indian paintbrush, owl's clover, yarrow, iris, mule's ear, yellow cup and others.

On the bay were examples of waterfowl — mallard ducks, terns, willets and a great blue heron.

After a very short two hours, the walkers wound up back near the beach by the Victorian house on the Audubon property.

"I keep looking for birds' nests in my own garden but I never find any," one woman commented.

Three Given Burglary Sentences

Three San Rafael men were sentenced last week in Marin courts in connection with commercial burglaries in San Rafael. All had pleaded guilty.

SENTENCED

William F. O'Bayley, 27, was sentenced to a year in county jail or a drug treatment program in Santa Rosa for stealing antiques from the Nichols Antique Shop on Mary Street and selling them to others.

Mark Stephen Perry, 18, was committed to the California Youth Authority for a maximum of two years for burglarizing the sales office of L. J. Dervin Auto Sales.

Timothy Paul Slattery, 19, was ordered to work 30 days at the Marin Juvenile Hall for stealing $893 from the Sarganis Shell Station at Second Street and Lincoln Avenue.

Mental Health Report Will Be Viewed By County Supervisors

A state report critical of the county's administration of mental health services will be discussed tomorrow by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

The report originally was slated for last week's agenda but was put over when supervisors became bogged down in other matters.

The report says, among other things, that there is no more centralized administration and the mental health services are aimed at too few people.

The board, meeting at 9 a.m. at Civic Center, also will discuss the county administrator's proposed capital improvement program.

The program, a key to what major projects the county plans over the next six years, shows

$4 million worth of road and building projects next year.

The county planning commission has recommended another $1.5 million be shown for new programs needed to carry out the county general plan. They proposed funds for low-income housing, subsidies to ranchers and to start waste water reclamation projects.

Today is Monday, April 22, the 112th day of 1974 with 253 to follow.
The moon is new. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mars and Saturn.
Spanish Queen Isabella I was born April 22, 1451.

On this day in history:
In 1880, some 20,000 homesteaders massed along the border of the Oklahoma Territory awaiting the signal to start the Oklahoma Land Run.

In 1898, Theodore Roosevelt resigned as assistant secretary of war to recruit men for his "Rough Riders" regiment of cavalry volunteers.

In 1944, Allied forces invaded Dutch New Guinea in World War II.
In 1972, Apollo 16 astronauts John Young and Charles Duke walked and roamed around the surface of the moon for seven hours and 23 minutes.

A thought for the day: President Franklin D. Roosevelt said, "The truth is found when men are free to pursue it."

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

A Good Thing To Remember: Size Up Foe Before Playing

It might cost you thousands of dollars in legal fees to discover that you have the right to look at an opponent and size him up. If anybody says that you must bury your head in your cards, you can cite the celebrated case of People vs. Jones.

Just then Jones looked up and saw West, a fellow by the name of Henry J. People. Henry was the sort of fellow who paid his taxes a month ahead of time and blushed when the girls talked rough as modern girls will.

Would Henry J. People be leading the eight of clubs in the hope of looking like a man who didn't have the king of clubs? Not on your life. If Henry had the king of clubs he would lead some other suit — any suit. We all know players like that.

So Jones decided to heck with mathematics; he was going to play People. He went right up with the ace of clubs and made his contract when the diamonds broke favorably.

You can find this case in the lawbooks if you know where to look.

DAILY QUESTION
Partner opens with one diamond, and the next player passes.

You hold:
A 9 3
Q 10 8 5
J 9 7 2
K 8 6 3

What do you say?
ANSWER: Bid one heart. With six points you can just barely afford a response. Show your best suit, such as it is, since you can do so at the level of one.

Less than 7 per cent of the gross farm income in California is in the form of government payments, says the California Farm Bureau.

PG&E Reports Snow Pack Will Cut Fuel Use

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Pacific Gas & Electric Co. says that a heavy snow pack in the Sierra Nevada has resulted in a good year for generating hydroelectric power.

A company spokesman said PG&E will have to use only 15 to 20 million barrels of fuel oil for electric power this year instead of the originally estimated 40 million barrels.

Fuel oil savings could add up to more than $260 million, but there won't be any reduction in rates because they "are based on an average over a period of time."

"The good water year this time is making up for last year's drought in Oregon and Washington. Under a mutual aid pact with companies there, we had to dip into our own fuel reserves to help them out," the spokesman said.

GOP Loyalty Low In College

PRINCETON, N.J. (UPI) — A survey by the Gallup Poll released yesterday shows student allegiance to the Republican Party is at its lowest point in almost 10 years.

Of 1,089 full-time students interviewed on 60 college campuses only one in seven said he was a Republican.

Thirty-seven per cent of the students claimed Democratic affiliation and were outnumbered by the 49 per cent who referred to themselves as independents.

The survey showed GOP party affiliation among the students is in agreement with the nation's voters as a whole. Only 24 per cent of the adults questioned in the most recent Gallup Poll allied themselves with the Republican party.

Mr. J. Oliver Finds Way To Help Shrink Painful Swelling Of Hemorrhoidal Tissues

...caused by inflammation and infection.

Junction City, Kansas.—Mr. J. Oliver writes: "I couldn't get relief. Then I bought Preparation H. I surely recommend it. It's worth its weight in gold."
 (Note: Doctors' tests have proved Preparation H actually helps shrink swelling of hemorrhoidal tissues caused by inflammation. It's so effective that in many cases the first applications give prompt, temporary relief from pain and itching in such tissues. There's no other formula like Preparation H.)

Bicycle Path Funds Approved

MERCED — The California Highway Commission has closed the bicycle path gap between Marinwood and Novato.

Commissioners on Thursday approved a $75,000 expenditure to build a path from Miller Creek Road over Pacheco Hill, alongside the Highway 101 freeway. The path, nine-tenths of a mile long, will enable cyclists to pedal a route they've been unable to use since 1964, when Highway 101 became a freeway.

Marin County and the state Department of Transportation will share the cost of building the path.

Capital's Pandas Begin Romancing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ah, spring, and a young panda's fancy lightly turns to love.

On the one hand: the ravishing Ling-Ling, a cuddly, 240-pound bundle of sheer allure, mature for her 3½ years and possessed of all the wiles of the female sex. She's playing, for the moment, a bit hard to get.

On the other, the impetuous Hsing-Hsing, a rogue of a fellow who in months past wouldn't give the lady next door a second look. Now, all of a sudden, he has decided there's more to life than lolling around his pool nibbling bamboo, or, true to his adolescent ego, showing off his athletic prowess to humans by standing on his head and doing shoulder rollovers.

Despite such raffishness, the betting is that Ling-Ling will, in the end, find him irresistible.

That, at least, is the assessment of National Zoo Director Theodore Reed, a man of an admittedly dubious record as a prognosticator in such matters but who opened the gates to the pandas' courtship Saturday with hopes held high.

For an hour or two on each of the next 10 days, these gates will again be lifted in the chill of dawn with Reed and his staff anxiously looking on to see if the budding romance follows the most natural of progressions.

It didn't Saturday, though the one hour, 40 minutes that Ling-Ling and Hsing-Hsing spent in one another's company produced plenty of nuzzling, cuddling and general sweet talk in a sort of wooing tone that never before had been heard from either animal. In short, the scientists were satisfied that the romance got off to a good and serious start.

If mating occurs, Ling-Ling should deliver her cub in about 5½ months.

There have been five panda breedings in China, but never elsewhere. St. Louis once had a mature pair for four years, but the female never went into heat. Hsing-Hsing and Ling-Ling were given to the United States during President Nixon's 1972 visit to China.

That they have the mating urge is evident aplenty. She's been off her feed in recent days, and the once-casual looks they exchanged have become long and lingering. When the gate was lifted, it was Hsing-Hsing who crossed the line — keeping intact the tradition of the male calling upon the female first. Later she paid a brief visit to his place.

The mating sessions are encouraged in the early hours because pandas are high-altitude, cold-weather animals who can become easily taxed in temperatures exceeding 70 degrees. After their initial romp, both took a nice long nap.

"They're just plain pooped," said Reed.

Garbage Stacks Up In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (UPI) — About 15,400 tons of uncollected garbage sits on lawns and sidewalks of Cleveland today because of a strike of several unions now in its ninth day.

Negotiators for the city and 13 various unions, including the Teamsters, were called back to the bargaining table today by Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Judge John J. McMahon. The contracts are being renegotiated because of a wage-reopen clause.

The strike has idled some 2,000 of the city's 11,500 workers. That includes 550 who were called in sick, about 700 who were laid off, and members of Teamsters Union Local 244 who went on strike a week ago for more money.

New Boosts In Gasoline Prices Seen

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — Price controls on petroleum products will be lifted within a few weeks and retail gasoline prices may climb as much as five cents a gallon, the nation's energy czar believes.

John C. Sawhill made the forecast in his first news conference yesterday since his promotion last week to federal energy administrator. Sawhill was formerly deputy energy czar under William Simon.

Sawhill also announced the formation of a 14-member wholesale petroleum advisory board to his agency.

Sawhill was here to address a meeting of the National Oil Jobbers Council at Walt Disney World.

Sawhill said that when price controls are removed within a month or so, gasoline pump prices will increase from three to five cents a gallon.

"We will move back into a free market mode. There will be a tendency for prices to go up."

"Unless Ralph Nader has a magic wand for dealing with the Arab countries that we don't have, I don't think we're going to see any drop in prices."

"We've got to let prices continue to provide incentives and ration demands," he said.

The wholesale petroleum advisory group will aid the government in finding ways "that will lead the country to greater self sufficiency of its petroleum," Sawhill said. The group will meet for the first time April 30.

Sawhill told the oil jobbers he will call utilities industry officials to a conference within 45 days "to review the whole system of rates structures and to urge them to encourage efficient energy use."

Patience Worth Mystery Still Leaves Questions Unanswered

The mystery of Patience Worth sprouted on the night of July 8, 1918.

That was when a St. Louis, Mo., housewife, Mrs. Joseph Curran, was amusing herself with that latest fad, the ouija board, aided and abetted by her husband and mother-in-law. Nothing but the usual drivel had been coming through when suddenly the pointer spelled out the message:

"Many moons ago I lived and now I come again. Patience Worth is my name."

The personality calling herself Patience established regular communication with Mrs. Curran through the ouija board. She said she was a Dorsetshire maid who in 1649 had left England for America where she fell victim to an Indian tomahawk. Now, she said, she had come back to satisfy a long deferred "earth urge" to be a writer.

Mrs. Curran had left school at 14 and, in the opinion of those who knew her best, her husband, mother-in-law, and close friends, was anything but an intellectual giant. Yet when she sat at the ouija board a stream of highly literate, sometimes dazzling prose and poetry poured forth with astonishing speed.

More surprising even than the quantity of the material was the fact that it appeared to be pure Elizabethan English. One scholar who analyzed a sample of the prose said it contained no word which had come into use later than the mid-17th Century.

Also, Patience seemed to have an absolutely uncanny knowledge of the customs of seventeenth century England.

It wasn't long until Patience was making a name for herself on the literary scene. In 1918 her poetry appeared in Braithwaite's Anthology of the Best Magazine Verse, and the same year she became the first ghost-writer (in the literal sense) to win a literary award. Patience Worth was named one of the outstanding authors of the year and invited to a reception at the National Arts Club. She declined, with regrets.

Patience's literary career lasted 14 years. In that time she produced five novels (one, a life of Christ titled The Sorry Tale and published by Henry Holt and Co., was hailed by a reviewer as "a work of genius") and hundreds of essays, poems, proverbs, prayers, and aphorisms. Her total output is estimated at three million words — equal to 50 average-length novels.

Throughout all this Mrs. Curran failed to show a glimmer of talent on her own. It was only when she teamed up with the ouija board that the magic happened.

Numerous experts investigated Patience. One, a noted psychologist, Dr. William Franklin Prince, said that the ouija board that wrote bestsellers was the most inexplicable thing he had heard of. Once he asked Patience: "What is the relationship between love and sex?" and immediately, in an eye-blink, came the answer:

Who said that love was fire? I know that love is ash.

President Named

PLYMOUTH, N.H. (UPI) — Dr. Eugene Mills has been named acting president of the University of New Hampshire by the board of trustees.

It is the thing which remains when the fire is spent, holy essence of experience.

"This," said Prince the psychologist, "may not be great poetry but it was an astonishing answer to spring whole from a ouija board operated by a lady with little discernable intellect."

Patience had a sharp tongue as well as a quick one. When a professor asked the name of the Indian who had killed her, she snapped: "If someone had a snapped: 'If someone had a stop to inquire his name?'"

On another occasion when asked about spirits she quipped: "Deceased or distilled?"

Caspar Yost, a Kansas City newspaper editor who made an intensive investigation of Patience Worth concluded that the invisible lady was either the cleverest hoax on record or — well, something more. Yost said he didn't believe she was a hoax.

Was Patience, then, really a departed spirit as she claimed?

Or was she actually part of Mrs. Curran, a portion of her deeper self? Was Louise Curran a latent literary genius who could only bypass her conscious blocks and express herself through the imaginary Patience Worth?

These questions remain unanswered.

Festival At Art, Garden Center Set

A display of antique and classic cars and a World War I fighter plane will highlight the Marin Art and Garden Center summer festival July 6 and 7 in Ross.

Dorothy Beesley, chairman of the "Good Old Days" committee, is planning the festival, said a variety of activities are planned at the center each day from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Entertainment will be provided by the Prince Charles Junior Pipe Band, Natural Gas Dixieland Band, Men of Marin and the Bayou Boogie Band. Miss Marin beauty contest finalists will appear and a fashion show of old-fashioned garb is planned.

The Ross Valley Players and the Rainbow Puppet Theater have scheduled performances during the festival and Marion Hayes Cain will do a performance of "Tom Sawyer" on the center's amphitheater stage.

Art shows, art-in-action demonstrations, jewelry and plant sales will be held throughout both days.

Mrs. Beesley noted that tickets are available at the center office and can be purchased at a reduced price through May 15.

6 WAYS TO USE LESS ENERGY HEATING YOUR HOME.

You can save fuel and help keep your home heating costs down by following these tips:

1. Set your furnace thermostat to a temperature of 68° or lower. Turn it down when you leave home or retire at night.
2. Examine and clean the heating system thoroughly each fall. Clean or replace dirty filters that make the furnace work harder to heat your home.
3. Keep all exterior doors—as well as those to garage, attic and basement—tightly closed. Lost heat is a waste of energy and money.

4. Proper home insulation and weatherstripping can cut heating costs up to 45%. Older homes often need new or additional insulation for adequate protection.
5. Open drapes on sunny days. Let the sun warm you naturally. Close drapes over large glass areas at other times; this can stop up to 16% of heat loss through windows.

6. Close damper when the fireplace is not in use so that the house heat can't escape up the flue. These are just a few of the many ways you can conserve energy.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Tigers' Hiller Has Two Goals

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

John Hiller asked no favors after he underwent heart surgery in 1971 and he's asking none now when he has an 0.53 earned run average and a 3-0 record that are keeping the Detroit Tigers from falling through the floor of the American League's Eastern Division.

"One season doesn't make a good ballplayer," says Hiller, referring to his record 38-save and 10-victory performance as a reliever in 1973. "If I have another year this year like I did last, then we'll see."

Considering his achievements since returning to active duty with the Tigers in 1972, the 31-year old Canadian-born left-hander has modest goals.

"I would like to be in the running for the Fireman of the Year Award again," he said after allowing one run and six hits in 7 2-3 innings of relief in the Tigers' 6-5 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers yesterday. "And I would like to be in the All-Star game. That would definitely be a thrill."

The California Angels defeated the Oakland A's, 9-5, the Boston Red Sox edged the Cleveland Indians, 6-5, in 10 innings, the Minnesota Twins downed the Texas Rangers, 8-2, the Chicago White Sox outslugged the Kansas City Royals, 11-7, and the New York Yankees beat the Baltimore Orioles 3-0 after a 6-5 loss in 13 innings, in other AL games.

Tigers 6 Brewers 5

Hiller's brilliant effort was rewarded when designated hitter Al Kaline's 14th inning single scored Jim Northrup from second base to break a 5-5 tie which had existed since the ninth.

Orioles 6-0, Yankees 5-3

Earl Williams opened the 13th inning of the first game with a single and eventually scored the winning run on rookie Mike Reinbach's single. Doyle Alexander, who took over after Jim Palmer pitched the first 12 innings for the orioles, was the winner and rookie Tom Buskey the loser. Lou Piniella had a double and two singles and Sam McDowell and Fred Beene combined in a four-hitter for the Yankees in the second game.

Red Sox 6, Indians 5

Dick McAuliffe scored the winning run on Milt Wilcox' wild attempted pick-off throw. Jim Perry carried a 5-1 lead into the ninth but the Red Sox tied the score with four runs.

Marin Diver Summerfield Stands Out

PLEASANT HILL — Led by diver John Summerfield, College of Marin turned in its best performance ever Friday and Saturday in the Northern California swimming championships here.

Summerfield finished first off the high board with 438 points and first off the low board with 417 as Marin accumulated 123 points to finish fifth in the meet at Diablo Valley College.

Six Marin athletes qualified for the state meet in Los Angeles May 2-4 by finishing in the top 12. They included the 400-yard freestyle relay team of Paul Moe, Bruce Fromberg, Mark Wilson and Troy Dunham, which swam a school record 3:22.4.

Fromberg, Moe and Dunham also qualified in the 50 and 100 freestyles. The sixth qualifier was diver Dave Cotton, second to Summerfield off the high board with 417 points and third off the low board with 364.

Foothill College of Los Altos won with 389 points, followed by Diablo Valley (386), American River of Sacramento (206) and West Valley of Campbell (180).

Sonoma Has A Perfect Loop Record: 0-10

ARCATA — Will Sonoma State College ever win a 1974 Far Western Conference baseball game?

After losing to Humboldt State College here Friday, the Cossacks dropped a double-header Saturday, 5-4 and 9-4, to see their conference mark fall to 0-10.

Sonoma coach Gary Hughes is protesting the 5-4 loss, because Humboldt removed designated hitter Mark Borgeld from the game in the first inning and then re-inserted him in the seventh. He hit the winning home run off losing pitcher Walt Sweeney in the seventh.

Borgeld also did damage in the nightcap, hitting a home run (his third of the series) and driving in three runs off Dane Jacobsen and Perry Kozlowski.

NATIONAL LEAGUE
Phils' Slugger Shakes Slump

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Greg Luzinski continued his spring cleaning yesterday afternoon by dusting off a tiresome batting slump.

He threw away a hitless string that tied him to a .105 batting average Friday night by smacking seven hits in 14 at bats in Philadelphia's last three games.

Luzinski singled home a run in the third yesterday, drove in another with a fifth-inning sacrifice fly and doubled home a run in the sixth to lift his average to .216 in a 7-3 win over the Chicago Cubs.

And Luz never worried about a thing. "It was just a matter of time. Actually it was timing. I've been over-anxious and not waiting on the pitch. I don't think I'm a slow starter. I blamed the number of games I missed during spring (due to minor injuries)." Luzinski said his timing was off in both 1973 and 1974.

"Both years I was swinging good when I was hurt," he said after helping Steve Carlton gain his second victory against no losses. "When the timing is off, I get out in front of the ball and hit off the wrong foot. I've been swinging the same since I was a kid."

The Phillies knocked out Jose Burt Hooton, 1-1, with four runs in the fifth after scoring a run in the fourth inning. Larry Bowa singled and stole second and third as Del Unser walked. Luzinski's sacrifice fly tied the game and Tommy Hutton tripled to score Unser and continued home on Monday's wild throw past third base.

Mike Anderson tagged Jim Kremmel for his first home run giving the Phils a 5-2 lead as five Chicago pitchers saw duty.

Elsewhere in the NL, Pittsburgh blanked New York 7-0, Montreal beat St. Louis 9-5, San Francisco nipped Los Angeles 6-4, San Diego beat Cincinnati 7-2 after losing 10-1, and Hank Aaron's 717th homer failed to save Atlanta as the Houston Astros defeated the Braves 4-3.

Dave Concepcion's third homer and first major league grand slammer highlighted a seven-run Cincinnati first in the opener.

Bob Watson ignited a three-run uprising in the eighth inning with a two-run homer to lift the Astros to a win over the Braves despite Hank Aaron's 717th home run.

LEFTY STILL HAS HIS FAST BALL

Vernon (Lefty) Gomez shows he still has his form with this pitch. Lefty helped the Fairfax-Sleepy Hollow Little League open its 1974 season yesterday and tossed the first ball. Behind Lefty is a sign in his honor to be erected at White Hill School. The park was named "Lefty Gomez Field" in 1972, the year Lefty, a resident of Fairfax, was inducted into baseball's Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y.

PLAY BALL! — After all the ceremonies were over, it was time for the familiar cry of Play Ball! Here was a pitch to open the game between Fairfax Shell and Perry's Delicatessen.

SACRIFICE — Just like the major leagues, there's always a time a sacrifice is needed in Little League baseball. This bunt came about during yesterday's opening game in Fairfax. Fairfax Shell defeated Perry's Delicatessen, 6-5.

VANTAGE POINT — Two-year-old Jessica Luckey found a good place to view the parade, on the shoulders of her dad, Paul Luckey of San Geronimo.

MARCHING PLAYERS — Members of the Legends team were among the 250 players, coaches and Boy Scouts who took part in yesterday's parade down Broadway in Fairfax. Nearly 1,000 spectators watched the parade and opening day ceremonies.

REACHING HIGH — Lefty Gomez had to reach very high for the return throw from Marin County Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. during his warm up tosses. After a few warm ups, Lefty threw a strike and the Fairfax-Sleepy Hollow Little League was officially started.

Behind the color guard is Lefty Gomez, being driven in a vintage 1934 Duesenberg. After the parade, three Little League and three Senior League games were played.
